FINANCIAL CONDITION AND MEASURES.

From the National Intelligencer.]

Though capable of no good, Congress is about to make a show of some practical legislation. At this moment the revenue is falling off, the public debt is increasing, legitimate business languishes, while speculation and peculation run riot, and every day the condition of the Treasury and of the monetary affairs of the country becomes more perilous. To say nothing of the great monetary crisis that occurred a week or two ago in New York, there have been lately half a dozen heavy failures and defalcations and explosions in moneyed concerns, involving banks and trust companies, and presenting fearful omens of an event that may come suddenly, making way with the whole fabric of public and private credit. Congress in this crisis is bent upon carrying out the Chicago platform, which calls for measures subversive of the rights of one section of the Union, destructive of its prosperity, and threatening and promoting serious disturbances of the public peace. The political measures before Congress, dictated by Thaddeus Stevens and his coadjutors of the Reconstruction Committee, are intended to subject the Southern whites to the perpetual domination of the Radical power, supported by Gen. Grant's bayonets.

The passage of these measures over the President's veto seems a foregone conclusion, and they lay the foundation for [illegible] social, and commercial disorders in civil [illegible], that may render this Union a the futile [illegible] of a blessing. curse instead [illegible] projects of this Congress The financial [illegible] are also to be re[illegible] up the Internal The House has taken [illegible] Committee revenue bill reported by [illegible] proposed on Ways and Means, and it [illegible] the to put it through at short notice [illegible] convenience of Radical members, without giving the public a fair opportunity to know what it is. All that the people have heard of it is, that it is a new and very complicated system of taxation. Whether it is based upon just and equal principles in regard to all interests, classes and sections, and whether it is practicable in its details, and adequate to the wants of an economical administration of the Government, the public is not yet advised.

In a recent discussion in the House of Representatives, of the provisions of the bill mentioned by the Intelligencer, Mr. Hunter said "it was admitted that the annual distillation of whisky in this country amounted to eighty millions of gallons, which at two dollars a gallon should produce $160,000,000, and yet the annual revenue from that source was only $13,000,000, showing a loss to the Government of nearly $150,000,000."

Mr. Niblack, a member of the Committee of Ways and Means, thought that the chief cause of the non-collection of the whisky tax, was the fact that the tax had been placed so high, thereby offering such an enormous inducement to fraud. He proposed the reduction of the tax to fifty cents per gallon. He would not, however, stand on this specific rate, but would vote for a greater or less rate, but for no higher rate than seventy-five. Believing, therefore, that the difficulty was not with the system of the collection but with the high rate, he did not see the necessity for changing the Bureau of Internal Revenue into an independent department.

General Morgan of New York, who has since been ousted from his seat in the House by the Radical majority there, because he is a Democrat, served in the Union armies during the war, and received only 700 more votes than his Radical competitor, declared that the Republican party was about to be driven from power by a plundered and outraged people. He said:

As to investigating the frauds and robberies committed on the people, that was impossible so long as that party remained in power. Every farmer, merchant and mechanic in the land understood that the existing abuses in the Government could only be corrected by driving the Republican party from power. He contrasted the taxation in England and the United States, and showed that where, as in England, the aggregate taxes averaged only 90 cents on the $100 of property, they averaged $3 93 in the United States. In other words, the taxes in the United States were more than four times as great in proportion to the wealth of the nation as in Great Britain. He referred to the fact that one Congressional District in New York paid twice as much internal revenue as was paid in the eleven Southern States. And why? Because Congress, instead of legislating for the benefit of industry and commerce, had but one idea in its brains—that of keeping the Republican party in power.

When a Legislature finds it necessary continually to undo at one session what it had done at previous sessions, and so to be constantly tinkering and cobbling the laws, and especially such as deal with those most delicate of all subjects of legislation, the currency and the finances, the men who thus mismanage the public affairs prove themselves to be utterly incompetent, unfit to be trusted by the people, quacks, charlatans and confidence-men, apt only for the nation's undoing. If a lawyer were so to mismanage the business of his client; if a merchant were so to conduct his affairs, one would in a little while have no clients, and the other in a little while be bankrupt.

The truth is, that no class of men in this country are so illy educated for the performance of their duties, so unqualified by nature to act the part which they impudently undertake, as the much larger number of those who engage in the trade of political juggling and escroquerie and call it statesmanship. An officer of the regular army is almost always qualified to perform the duties he undertakes to perform; a lawyer to live by his profession, must know some law; a medical quack is soon detected; and a divine, to be respectable, must be somewhat of a theologian. It is only a legislator who need know nothing at all, like Logan, or is none the worse because he has everything to unlearn, like Sumner.

The Congressional legislation of the present day, in the internal economy of the two Houses themselves, may aptly be defined as "knavery over-reaching ignorance." It is hardly to be believed that many members of either House were parties to or cognizant of the rascality embodied in the original whisky-taxing law, by which certain mercenaries of Radicalism reaped millions by buying whisky to sell it again at an enormous advance. The knaves of Congress led the asses by the ears into the mire of dishonour. At last, legislation has come to be controlled by "rings" which originate measures, push them forward, buy votes, and are the real lawmakers of the country. Everything is a job, a fat contract, a gratuity for "extra service," a speculation or a swindle. It was not difficult before the war, to buy Northern votes in Congress, but not in any great number. A few were always for sale. Southern ones never were. No man ever dared to allege that a Southern member had been bribed. Radicalism has made votes cheap, and the market is well supplied. Knowing this, Butler, Stevens, Boutwell, Bingham and Logan cannot conceive how one of their own faith could possibly have had the courage to brave the anger of his constituents by voting to acquit the President, unless he had sold his vote for money; and so Radicalism is zealously engaged in the business of blackening its own character by endeavouring to prove that the votes of Fessenden, Trumbull, Grimes and Ross were so sold.

Why should they not have been? What was the law which lately relieved the manufacturers of eighty millions of dollars of taxation, but a huge bribe to buy their votes withal, for the nominees of the Radical Convention?

As to the incapacity of the chiefs of the party, it is enough to point to the whiskey tax and its results. What man of common sense could help knowing that a tax so enormous as two dollars per gallon on common whiskey would operate as a premium for illegal distilling and frauds on the revenue, and return less into the Treasury than a tax of twenty-five cents per gallon? A bushel of corn will make, we believe, two gallons and a half of whiskey; and we have known Cincinnati whiskey sell at nineteen cents a gallon, in Arkansas. To lay a tax of two dollars on liquors, was to kill the goose that would have laid the eggs of gold.

MINING UNPROFITABLE.

In the account of a recent debate in the House of Representatives, we find the following:

Mr. [illegible]gby addressed the Committee in opposition to the views put forward by Mr. Wood a[illegible] the country for the mineral resources o[illegible]. He begged members to strip themselves of [illegible] saying mining business was a better [illegible] business. On the contrary, he declared from eighteen years' experience, that no business, agricultural, commercial or manufacturing, paid so poorly as the mining business. The population of the mineral belt of country in California was decidedly the poorest part of the population of the State. No legislation could be more fallacious than that which was based on the idea that the mineral interests of the country were the most valuable. The idea should, therefore be dismissed of the Government paying its debt by any such means. It costs more to extract gold and silver than the product was worth; but the benefit was that gold and silver were the grand stimulants of all other enterprises. Most of the mineral counties in California were almost in a state of bankruptcy.

Mr. Johnson indorsed the statements of his colleague, (Mr. Higby) taking the position that the Government should neither tax the miners nor work the mines.

Mr. Wood reiterated and supported his proposition in reference to the Government's working the mineral lands. He was willing to admit that the gold products of California had cost as much as they were worth, but he did not propose that the Government should carry on the business in such an effectual way, but in a herculean style such as would produce thousands of millions of dollars. He held that the proposition was entirely practicable and could be carried out.

Mr. Higby said he had always found a great facility among men to build up theories, but it was a different thing to carry them out. If the Government could accomplish those great results, why could not private capitalists, with the gentleman from New York among them, do the same thing?

The question is worth examining, whether the production of cotton is not as unprofitable, in the long run, to the planter and the country in which it is produced, as the business of mining for gold. Is not the planter simply an overseer for those who buy his cotton, to sell it again, or to manufacture it? We have often said so, and we believe it; and we do not doubt that this year again the price of cotton will be low until after the planter has sold all, and then rise to benefit the speculator.

The measure of the prosperity of an agricultural country is not what it produces, but how much of what it produces its people can afford to consume. Neither the production of gold or cotton enriches a country. It costs too much to produce the one and to extract the other; and both flow out of the country that produces them, to enrich others. It is, at least, positively demonstrated now, that the country cannot flourish which produces only gold or cotton and purchases its provisions.

From the Cincinnati Commercial.]

We have heretofore exhibited facts and figures to show that the present tariff on imported goods is something over forty-three per cent. ad valorem, upon the average, payable in gold; that this enormous and unprecedented duty is levied chiefly upon articles of general use and necessity for consumption; that upon most fabrics that enter into the clothing of our people, (where of the larger portion always comes from abroad), the amount of this tax is from sixty to one hundred per cent.; that upon iron manufactures, which enter largely into use in all the mechanic arts, the tax is so heavy already as very nearly to double the cost of the article to consumers; and that the experience of all nations proves that as a question of revenue, a moderate duty pays invariably more into the treasury than an extortionate one. That the present rates of duty are extortionate, it needs not a comparison with those imposed by other nations to prove. We need but to compare them with the highest duties ever levied in the history of our own protective tariffs, in order to see that the rates imposed during the war, and still remaining unrepealed, are from twenty to forty per cent. higher than were ever before tolerated in the United States.

The Commercial insists that these inordinate taxes not only produce less revenue for the Government, but impose monstrous and unequal burdens on the poor and the agricultural classes. Jacobinism must conciliate the manufacturers; and New England has twelve Senators, and is almost unanimous in wishing that the principal of the five-twenties shall be paid in gold. The groans of the Northwest, staggering under the enormous weight of a plundering tariff, are sweetest music to the ears of the South. Let the Northwest continue to play the camel to New England, and kneel to receive its burden.

—A German physician reports that he has traced six cases of lead cholic and paralysis to the use of tobacco held in leaden boxes. A lead foil, improperly called tin foil, will finally become impregnated with a poisonous salt of lead.

—The Bowling Green, Ky., Democrat of the 13th says: A difficulty occurred near Allen Springs, in Allen county, on last Monday between Wm. Kirby and Henry Worley, in which Kirby shot Worley, the ball striking him in the face and lodging in his neck. The wound is said to be dangerous. There has been no arrest of Kirby or legal investigation of the affair.

CONDENSED DECISIONS OF THE SUPREME COURT.

Brownsville, June Term, 1868.

BY H. CLAY KING, ESQ.

No. 26.—Walt vs. German National Bank.

Motion to dismiss appeal, and to strike from the docket, on the ground that the transcript was not filed within the time prescribed by law.

Held: That the statute makes it the duty of the clerk of the inferior court to transmit the transcript in appeal cases, and the transcript having been filed here, but not in the time directed, this Court will not dismiss or strike from the docket on that ground.

A NEGRO DUEL.

The colored men are imitative, but they copy, as nearly as possible, the defects of the superior race, and not their higher attributes. A few days ago an instance occurred at Savannah, Ga., illustrative of the fact. The Republican of the 14th, furnishes the particulars, from which it appears that Jackson Brandt is presiding officer of Baker Council No. 9, Union League of America, was Bradley was Secretary. The famous notice to the Republican, we are told, (that unless that paper should cease the course it was pursuing, "20,000 loyal men would take the lawful means to suppress it,) was signed by Brandt at the instigation of Bradley. So many dissensions occurred among the members of the league, Baker Council fell to pieces. At the late election Brandt co-operated with the Conservatives and was elected President of a Club, of which one Eugene Morehead was a Vice-President, an ice cream dealer in the city, who had always supported the cause of the white people. A quarrel springing up between himself and Brandt, he charged the latter with gaining the confidence of the whites, to play the traitor and deliver them to the tender mercies of the Radicals. Brandt, [illegible]willing to rest under the imputation, th[illegible] other was a d—d liar. A challenge was [illegible] consequence, and a duel. The next morning [illegible] the parties met, with their seconds. The weap[illegible]ons were double-barrel shotguns, each barr[illegible] charged with sixteen buckshot—the distance but fifteen paces. At the word "fire," Brandt fell mortally wounded. Both guns went off simultaneously, but Morehead was unhurt. Both behaved with cool bravery, and showed good fighting qualities—whether indicating a higher civilization, is another matter. Both parties had been slaves, formerly.

Judge Sharkey's Opinion.

The Chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee of Mississippi having notified Hon. Wm. L. Sharkey that he had been announced to address his fellow-citizens at several mass meetings, in defense of the Constitution of the United States, to which he received a reply, from which we extract the following:

It is well known, I presume, that I regard the reconstruction measures, and everything that has been done under them, as not only absolutely void, but utterly subversive of the Constitution of the United States, and destructive of all the reserved rights of the States, as well as of the liberties of the people. I shall cheerfully, and to the best of my ability, discharge the duty assigned me. In doing so I but discharge what I believe to be a patriotic duty, and I hope all who have been appointed by the committee, will be equally prompt in responding to your call. This is no ordinary occasion; it is a contest in which the Constitution is to be put upon trial in opposition to a consolidated government, with all power concentrated in Congress, and it is hoped when this issue is presented, and the danger realized, none can hesitate—surely no patriot can.

The Mississippi Election.

The Jackson Clarion makes a most earnest appeal to the patriotism of the candidates in opposition to Radicalism—that all those who know themselves ineligible and cannot qualify, should instantly withdraw from the canvass. It says:

Conservatives who permit themselves to be run as candidates under such circumstances, must know that they are playing directly into the hands of the enemy. The Constitution provides that where a person is selected who is not eligible, the candidate receiving the next highest vote shall qualify. The Conservatives cannot afford to pay empty compliments, nor lose a single vote. They must save the Legislature. It is the last ditch, if they are defeated on the question of ratification. Above all, let us save the Senate. On that body will devolve the responsibility of ratifying or rejecting the army of officers who under the Constitution are to be appointed by the Governor.

Remember, fellow-citizens, that he who runs for the Legislature, knowing himself to be ineligible, is a stumbling block to the opposers of Radical rule.

Again we repeat, that only persons who can take the iron-clad oath, or private soldiers of the late C. S. army (excluding thereby both commissioned and non-commissioned officers), can qualify.

MEMPHIS APPEAL.

ALBERT PIKE & CO.

Vera Atque Honesta Dicere.

For President of the United States,

ANDREW JOHNSON,

OF TENNESSEE.

[Subject only to the decision of the National Democratic Conservative Convention.]

PLATFORM OF THE TENNESSEE DEMOCRACY.

1st. The Conservative men of Tennessee, putting aside all questions decided by the war, accept the title of 'Democrats,' and formally unite themselves with the Democratic party as it now exists.

2d. The question of the right of a State to secede from the Union has been decided by arms, and that decision should be accepted as final and conclusive.

3d. Nevertheless, while the Constitution makes the Federal Government supreme, it is so only with well defined limitations and restrictions, leaving the States large rights and powers over their domestic concerns, and making them co-equal in respect of such rights; and these rights have not been impared by the result of the war, or the powers of the General Government aggrandized by it, to the endangerment of public liberty.

4th. The extinguishment of African Slavery is recognized as a fact, ratified by a binding Constitutional Amendment.

5th. The luvestiture of negroeswith the right of suffrage, by the Congress of the United States, and the disfranchisement of white men, by the same authority, is a gross usurpation of power, and a policy unjust, unwise and oppressive, and tending to excite a war of races: the white men of America are entitled to superiority and supremacy in the administration of the Federal and State governments; and any measure intended to deprive them of it, or to divide or impair it, greatly endangers the perpetuity of free republican institutions.

6th. The faith of the nation is pledged to the payment of the national debt, according to the terms of the laws under which the bonds were issued, and not otherwise. The time of payment of the bonds ought not to be extended; the principal of the five-twenty bonds ought to be paid in currency, and the money granted to the National banks to be withdrawn.

7th. The Government bonds should be taxed in the hands of the bondholders, equally with other property.

8th. The doctrines and practices of the Radical party, which endeavors, by encroaching upon the powers of the Executive and Judicial branches of the Government, to absorb in the Legislative Department all powers, tend to the destruction of the Republican system of Government and the civil liberties of the people.

9th. Equal and exact justice to all men, of whatever State or persuasion, religious or political; peace, commerce and honest friendship with all nations; entangling alliances with none; the support of the State Governments in all their rights, as the most competent administrators of our domestic concerns and the surest bulwark against anti-Republican tendencies; the preservation of the General Government in its whole constitutional vigor, as the sheet anchor of peace at home and safety abroad; a jealous care of the rights of election by the people and the supremacy of the civil over the military authority.

10th. Andrew Johnson the first choice of the Democracy of Tennessee; but their Delegates left free to unite in selecting another as the candidate for the Presidency.

AN ARCH INTRIGUER.

A CHASE CONVENTION.—The friends of Chief Justice Chase will meet in convention at Philadelphia, it is stated, this week to adopt such measures as will secure harmonious co-operation with the Democracy.—Atlanta Intelligencer, 9th

When Cassandra inveighed against the introduction of the Trojan horse, and wildly bewailed the calamities drawn down upon her devoted country, by the voluntary but treacherous offerings of the Greeks, she wept and wailed in vain. None harkened to her wild and apparently hyperbolical complaints. They deemed her mad, and the prophetess was decried as a crazed woman, the temple of whose reason had been shattered by the Gods. If the Democracy can accommodate itself to Salmon P. Chase, the political trickster, then is there no such thing as patriotism, "virtue has fled to brutish beasts, and men have lost their reason." When men are doomed to destruction they are first deprived of reason. It would be the hight of madness, of folly, of unhallowed absence of all principle to accept any overtures from Salmon P. Chase, on the part of the Democracy.

The Democracy of Ohio have had more than one trial of the plastic gentleman. They know him well, and will never consent to be tied to his car again. He went to the United States Senate on a most corrupt bargain. He had two friends, (Abolitionists) in the Ohio Legislature. Whigs and Democrats were locked in the Legislature and in the representation of Hamilton county, with Geo. E. Pugh at the head of the Democrats, knocking for admission. The two Abolitionists, under the instructions of Mr. Chase, played their cards well. They closed the bargain. Chase went to the United States Senate; and the spoils and minor offices were divided among the Democrats.

Again: When the Know Nothings had perfected their organization so that success was certain, they being without a proper head—a mere long, wirey, spiral caudal appendage to the most ultra scheme of demagogulsm and intolerance—a bargain was struck with them, by which Chase, who could not possibly raise more than 25,000 or 30,000 abolition votes, at the outside, in the whole State of Ohio, became that head that was wanting to the long tail, and without exactly being converted to Know Nothingism, consented to be its candidate for Governor, all the other offices being generously conceded to the Know Nothings. The same kind of compromise that wafted Chase into the Senate of the United States on Democratic wings, made him Governor of Ohio, with the Know Nothings for his underpinning. In the first instance he claimed to be a liberty man—not an abolitionist—and in every other respect a sound Democrat, especially upon such points as hard money and free trade. How exceedingly tenacious he is of principles, is easily demonstrated from the main features of his public life; but it is sufficient that he has always been ready to fraternize with any party with whom he could conclude a bargain. L'ke the arch-tempter, he has bright and beautiful worlds to give away to those who will fall down and worship him. The fires of his ambition are inextinguishable. A fine reader of the worst phases of the human heart, and well understanding the motives which sway human ambitions, he has had no difficulty whatever in perfecting his arrangements by which he has succeeded in flanking opposing elements that would have overwhelmed a less fortunate personage.

While Chase was Governor of Ohio, a monstrous hiatus was discovered in the State Treasury. The misapplication of more than three quarters of a million of dollars was traced through the administration of Chase to that of his predecessor, Medill. The fact was, the preceding Treasurer of State was John G. Breslin, a Democrat who had been a candidate for re-election, but was defeated by Wm. H. Gibson, his brother-in-law, a Know-Nothing, who was elected on the same ticket with Chase. These brothers-in-law had been dabbling in wild land speculations in Nebraska, and had more than one wild-cat bank in operation, that did not prove a profitable investment. They had been for some time engaged in these speculations, and had so arranged that the secret should be preserved, whosoever might be elected.

When Chase was informed by Gibson that havoc had been played with the Treasury, and that it would be impossible to meet the accruing interest on the public debt, he seized the opportunity of attempting to produce the impression that the defalcation was of long-standing, that it had occurred during the preceding administration, and that the only offense of his State Treasurer was that he tried to screen his brother-in-law from the penalty of his crime! The term of the Governor was almost concluded, and he was a candidate for re-election. And it was in this mean, dastardly way he sought to shift all responsibility, that his own chances might not be endangered. Besides, he was unwilling to have an immediate Legislative investigation, and instead of convoking the Legislature, as was his constitutional duty, with his Auditor of State, he illegally and unconstitutionally borrowed $110,000 to meet the interest, and to secure which he still further transcended his prerogative. In this matter, Chase manifested the cool, deliberate calculation of the unprincipled adventurer, who will resort to any subterfuge or pretext, to shift responsibility from himself.

To talk of such a man in connection with the Democratic nomination for the Presidency, is to directly insult whosoever claims being a Democrat. Chase was for long considered the embodiment of antagonism to the Democratic party, and to accept him now, and under the circumstances, were to argue a facility on their part to shift their ground on account of expediency that would indicate them apt scholars of the elastic and versatile, and eminently selfish Chief Justice, himself.

That Mr. Chase could consent to be the Democratic nominee, only shows how utterly unscrupulous and selfish he is. To accept him as such would exhibit a folly and stupidity that should sink a party to oblivion without delay.

Great efforts are being made to show Chief Justice Chase the man for the situation, notwithstanding he was viewed with doubt and distrust through the earlier hours of the impeachment trial, and at no time was his status considered free from apprehension and uncertainty. Yet it was a grand theater, and fit stage for the magnificent display of a consummate actor. Mr. Chase was fully aware of the magnitude if not solemnity of the occasion, and availed himself of all the stage effect that the most skillful dramatist would require. That the failure to impress the Radical party with the necessity for nominating him for the Presidency, shaped his ruling and conduct during the trial, we are not prepared to say; but that it had its due influence, those acquainted with his antecedents might readily conjecture. He had rather stain the judicial ermine with the draggle of partisan Radicalism, and it was well some occasion should present itself when he might assume the dignity of the station. But we are not willing to traffic and barter the expected good of a purification of the Government for the desperate chance of a full restoration under one of the acknowledged lights of Radicalism, even provided the people who have been wedded to other principles, and repose confidence in other men, could be transferred to him by political leaders. The policy they have so far enunciated is inimical to his, and there is nothing in his personnel to rivet admiration.

MAIL FACILITIES.

The communication addressed to us from Fair Dale, and which we publish for the benefit of others as well as ourselves, will explain itself. Such an investigation as it should lead to, cannot fail to be of service. This is the right way to proceed, that censure may attach where it properly belongs, and lead to the correction of the complained-of negligence:

FAIR DALE, ARK., June 13, 1868.

Editors Memphis Appeal:

We noticed in your issue of the 25th of May, an article headed "Mail Facilities," in which you, as public journalists, express yourselves interested in the prompt and regular delivery of the mails on the Arkansas river; and we had hoped that the note of our neighbor on Swan Lake would have secured that most desired object—yet we of Fair Dale and vicinity have to suffer as usual.

"Mack's" vindication of the Arkansas River Packet Company is very fine to read, yet we think we can prove to the satisfaction of "Mack," or any one interested, that the mails have not been promptly and regularly delivered at the Fair Dale office for the last four months, and since the date of "Mack's" letter, in which he says that "the mails have been punctually delivered at all landings when circumstances would permit," the steamer Celeste has failed or neglected twice to stop at Fair Dale and take our mails, at which dates there was a mail at the Fair Dale office ready and awaiting to be delivered to the said steamer Celeste. We are informed by C. F. Notrebe, Esq., of Fair Dale, that the Celeste is the only boat in the mail line that does not deliver and receive our mails regularly. Snags cannot be an excuse for non-delivery of the mails, for the U. S. snag-boat Long, has visited Fair Dale several times lately.

We do not wish to be captious, yet we want to be dealt with fairly and justly, and the continued and often repeated irregularities in our mails causes us much annoyance and trouble.

Please give this letter a place in your valuable paper, and much oblige your fellow citizens, residents of Fair Dale and immediate vicinity.

Cotton Bloom.

The Vicksburg Herald of the 10th inst. acknowledges the receipt of a lot of full grown cotton blooms and a few small cotton bolls. Mr. Harbin, in a letter from Satartia, says: "Crops are as good as were ever known at this time of the year. River receding slowly." Mr. H. resides six miles below Satartia.

—The St. Louis Republican publishes a communication taken from the Abenzeitung, unfavorable to the candidacy of Grant. "The signatures to the paper," says the Republican, "are among the best known of our citizens, and their respectability cannot be questioned." The anti-Grant movement is one in which all the various Hebrew congregations join, without exception.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The Florida delegation here are very anxious about the Senatorial election which occurs today. They are apprehensive that a negro will be elected for the short term ending March next.

The recall of the twenty per cent. bill causes much disappointment, though the clerks still hope that it will eventually pass.

The Committee on Ways and Means are still undecided as to the course they will pursue. It is probable that the new bill will cover over one hundred pages, in changing the present system of collecting the revenue. If this is correct the bill will not be ready to report before next week, and its passage will require two weeks. Considerable stubbornness and bad feeling exists.

Ninety-two witnesses have been summoned in Surratt's behalf.

Gen. Meigs has resumed active duties as Quartermaster General.

The receipts to-day from internal revenue amount to $553 000.

It is rumored that Gen. Martin McMahan will be appointed Minister to Mexico.

CONGRESSIONAL.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—Sherman introduced a bill to promote commerce among the several States, and to provide cheaper transportation for the mails, military and naval stores. He stated that it proposed the construction of several railroads in different directions from Washington, and moved its reference to a select committee, with instructions to report early at the next session, which was agreed to.

Also a bill for the removal of the political disabilities of certain persons in North Carolina, South Carolina, Alabama, Georgia, and some of the other Southern States. The list contains about twelve hundred names, including Govs. Brown and Holden, Gen. Longstreet and Geo. W. Jones, of Tennessee. The last is the only known Democrat in the lot.

The consideration of the Fenian bill was then resumed and debated until the adjournment.

HOUSE.

The Senate's amendment to the bill relieving Roderick R. Butler, member elect from Tennessee, from his political disabilities, and seating him without the "iron clad oath," was passed by 99 to 27.

After some local business, the River and Harbor bill was taken up. It appropriates about $70,000,000. The Southeast is only benefitted by about $80,000 for an examination and survey of the Atlantic coast. The territories along the Mississippi get $1,300,000, and $100,000 for the mouth of the Mississippi, and only a part of $185,000 for the improvement of the Missouri, Arkansas and Mississippi rivers will be spent. No action was taken.

A motion to reconsider the twenty per cent. additional to the pay of department employees prevailed, and the bill was recalled from the Senate, and the House adjourned.

—Of all the sights in Paris, none is more curious than the snail-seller. He trundles a large and shallow hand-cart through the streets, covered with huge snails, crawling all over the side of the cart, with horns extended and house on back. A dozen can be purchased for the small sum of two sous; you can select them yourself, and carry them away in a paper bag. Some people eat them raw, like oysters; others roast them with savory herbs. The best snails come from Burgundy in the autumn, and are fattened on the vine leaves. Those now selling are gathered in every ditch outside the city, the several cemeteries yielding the largest supplies.

THE AIR-LINE RAILROAD.

We had the pleasure, on Monday evening, of a brief conversation with the editor of Neal's State Gazette, published at Dyersburg, who visits this city in the interest of the contemplated route from Memphis to Union City, where it will intersect the roads leading to Columbus and Paducah, Ky. Mr. Neal has devoted much time and labor in inspiring the people of his section with the importance of early action in the matter, as intimately connected with their prosperity, and promising immediate as well as future advantages. His labors have been rewarded by zealous co-operation among those who recognize the advantages to be secured, and as an important adjunct in the enterprise, the aid and co-operation of the citizens of Memphis are invoked to accomplish the object of opening a direct way through the fertile river counties, conflecting with the great Northern thoroughfares.

TO BE, OR NOT TO BE?

We briefly adverted to Grant's letter of acceptance, to show that he did not know his own mind, and had no distinct policy to avow or disavow. The letter itself was brief, but could not be said to be to the point, as it embraced two several points, equally explicit and equally confused. As a sample of the mysteries, it might well serve,—that is, of unsaying what it says: "Now you see it, and now you don't." That the General may be fully appreciated, here are his declarations in juxtasposition, side by side, giving unmistakable evidence that his mind was undergoing some strange revolution, that it could not hold in one direction through a little page of manuscript:

HE BEGINS.

In formally accepting the nomination of the National Union Republican Convention of the 21st May, inst., it seems proper that some statement of views beyond the mere acceptance of the nomination should be expressed.

HE CONCLUDES.

In times like the present it is impossible, or at least eminently improper, to lay down a policy to be adhered to, right or wrong, through an administration of four years. New political issues, not foreseen, are continually arising; the views of the public on old ones are constantly changing, and a purely administrative officer should always be left free to execute the will of the people.

"Under which king, Bezonian?"

—Mr. Hoe, the inventor of the cylinder press, whose patent (twenty one years) expires in July, is in Washington asking for a renewal, upon the ground that he has not been sufficiently compensated.

DIED.

MICHOT—On Tuesday, at 10 o'clock a.m., EDDY, son of E. L. Michot, aged 5 years.

Services will take place at the house, on Horn Lake road, at 4 o'clock p.m. Carriages will be in waiting at Fishkrity & Walsh's, 317 Second street, at half-past 3 o'clock. Funeral services by Rev. L. C. Ransom.

POPULAR WORKS ON FREEMASONRY

PUBLISHED BY THE

MASONIC PUBLISHING

—AND—

MANUFACTURING COMPANY,

432 Broome Street, New York.

LITURGY OF THE ANCIENT AND Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry, for the Southern Jurisdiction of the United States. By Albert Pike, 33d, Sov. Grand Commander. 8vo. Splendidly illustrated with Chromo-lithographic plates and numerous wood engravings, Part II, 4th to 14th degree, $5 00.

. It would perhaps seem unnecessary after giving the above title-page to say anything further in the way of recommendation. The name of the author should of itself be a sufficient guarantee of its worth. Ill. Bro. Pike, by his learning and contributions has done as much to elevate the standard of Masonic literature and extend a knowledge of its symbolism, ethics and history as any other living man. This book, in its particular department, may justly be considered a master-piece, embracing matter not only useful to the Masonic student of every grade, but to men of science in the highest literary field of the present age. Notwithstanding this book has been preceded by several of a similar character, yet to Bro. Pike alone is due the honor of first exploring this branch of Masonic literature and of opening to the admiration of the Craft its vast storehouse of knowledge and beauty. This work contains the degrees of the Ancient and Accepted Rite from the fourth to the fourteenth inclusive, is elegantly illustrated with chromo-lithograph engravings, showing all the jewels, costume, furniture, etc., belonging to each degree. No expense has been spared in getting it up, and it is without doubt the most elegant, as well as one of the most useful books, ever offered to the Fraternity.

Published and for sale by the Masonic Publishing and Manufacturing Company, 432 Broome street, New York, and Booksellers generally in the United States.

Copies of the above for the Memphis Brethren are ready for delivery at the Editorial Rooms of the APPEAL, 14 Jefferson street, upstairs. 1w Jan29

SEVENTEENTH DAY—Wednesday.—Sun rises 4:39; sets 7:30.

Saints.—Sts. Nicander and Marcian, martyrs, about 303; St. Pryor, hermit in Egypt, 500; St. Avitus or Avy, 530; St. Botulph, abbot of Iranko, 655; St. Mobagus, or Dairchilla, bishop and confessor in Ireland, 697.

Born.—John Wesley, founder of the sect of Methodists, 1703; Andrew Crosse, Electrician, 1784; Ferd. Freiligrath, poet, 1810.

Died.—John Sobieski, (John III,) of Poland, Joseph Addison, poet and miscellaneous writer, 1719; Louis Hector, Duke de Villars, French commander, 1734; Crebillon, French poet, 1762; Madam Anna Sontag, singer, 1854.

ST. MARY'S CHURCH.—Bishop Quintard will officiate in this church to-morrow (Thursday) at 9 a.m.

REV. MR. MADEIRA, of St. Louis, will preach in the First Presbyterian Church, corner of Third and Poplar streets, this (Wednesday) evening at 8 o'clock.

ESCAPED.—We learn that Jack Winters, who has been under arrest for murder for some months, escaped yesterday. He was taken out for an airing and eluded his guard.

WE would advise our readers to examine the Improved Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine before purchasing elsewhere. Experience teaches us they have no equal. Room, 256 Second street.

RAIN.—The storm which passed over our city on Monday evening was accompanied with heavy rains to the south of us. At the Mississippi State line we learn it fell in torrents, doing incalculable good to the corn crops in that section, which were suffering.

ST. JOHN'S DAY.—Every Mason should bear in mind the great Masonic picnic which is to come off on the 24th instant, St. John's day. The picnic is for the benefit of the fund for the widows and fatherless—a charity for which the hand and heart of every true Mason is ever open. Remember that the virtue of charity is the first lesson we are taught when we pass the threshhold of the mystic temple.

SAD ACCIDENT.—While two little boys, the sons of Dr. Jones and Mr. Schoope, two well known citizens of Memphis, were in bathing on Saturday, at a picnic near Tuscumbia, they accidentally got beyond their depth and were drowned. Although the bodies lay in the water only fifteen minutes, were [illegible] exertion, for four hours, was and evening to restore them, the efforts made to re[illegible]. The corpses were yesterday brought to town.

GRAND TOURNAMENT.—The programme in another column and [illegible] that all is in readiness for the grand [illegible] at Central Park. There are fourteen Knights entered, and eager to display their skill in the arena. In addition, the use of the lance and saber will be exhibited on foot and horseback by Capt. Van. The ceremonies of crowning the Queen of Beauty and Maids of Honor, will add to the interest of the occasion. The amusements of the day will close with a mule race. The grounds will be sprinkled—an abundance of cool, sparkling water is provided, and ample arrangements have been made for suitable refreshments. The line of march will be formed at 8 o'clock a.m., and the procession move through the principal streets of the city. The amphitheater erected is capable of accommodating thousands, and is a monument of energy and enterprise. In every respect the Tournament is bound to be a success, and those who fail to enjoy the spectacle will miss one of the most agreeable entertainments ever gotten up in Memphis. The officers have been indefatigable and deserve the highest credit for the truly excellent manner in which they have accomplished all that they have undertaken.

PERSONAL.

—T. A. Nelson, Esq., President of the Board of Commerce, left yesterday afternoon for the North, to be gone some six weeks.

—Quite a reunion of the friends of W. L. Vance, Esq., took place yesterday at the Chickasaw Club, to partake of his sumptuous and recherche entertainment, previous to his departure North for the summer.

—Tom Neal, of Neal's State Gazette, of Dyersburg, is in the city. His paper is a real live one, and is a good advertising medium. Any orders left for him at the APPEAL office will receive attention.

—Another editor, Col. Mose Parrish, of the Bolivar Bulletin, is in town. He looks blooming as a rose and hearty as a bear. We only want Gus Signiago and Yacob Frolich now to make the circle complete.

—Mr. Hogshead, of the Panola Star, and Capt. Crawford, candidate for the Mississippi State Senate, are also in town.

CATARACT REMOVED WITHOUT THE USE OF THE KNIFE.—This is to certify that I was growing gradually blind for several months, and that my vision became so dim that I could not distinguish a black man from a white one at a distance of twenty feet, nor could I read the largest letters on the signs, when I was induced to call on Dr. Norris, oculist, at 59 Madison street, who pronounced my disease soft cataract, which was attested by several other physicians. In ten days after Dr. Norris commenced treating me my sight was greatly improved, and in two weeks both cataracts were entirely absorbed and removed, and I can now see to read the finest print. This astonishing result was done entirely by the use of Dr. N.'s Magic Collyrium.

TERRIBLE MURDER.

A Young Memphian Killed in Cold Blood.

Particulars From an Eye-Witness.

One of the most cold-blooded and deliberate murders that it has ever been our province to record, was committed yesterday at Ten Mile Bayou, on the Memphis and Little Rock Railroad, in which George D. Bethel, Esq., was the victim, murdered by a youth named Clarence Collier, under the following circumstances, as detailed by an eye-witness:

Some days ago Collier had a difficulty with a neighbor named Seay, at Ten Mile Bayou, which resulted in a "rough and tumble" fight. Yesterday morning Collier passed the house of a man named Morgan, who lives near Ten Mile Bayou, with a gun on his shoulder. He sang out to Morgan, as he rode by, that he was "carrying that for Seay." At Ten Mile Bayou there was a fishing party, consisting of W. B. Greenlaw, Jr., Col. Duncan McRae, W. T. Dean, Esq., and George D. Bethel, Esq. Bethel and Collier own adjoining places just below the Bayou; and, for sometime past, there has been bad blood between them, about an old transaction regarding some hay. About three o'clock in the afternoon, Bethel was sitting on horseback, when Collier rode up and Bethel handed him a paper, which Collier read, and then dismounted, remarking that he did not intend to "settle any such claim," or something of the sort. Bethel also dismounted, and some words passed between them, in which were "liar" and "scoundrel." Collier, holding his gun to his hip, walked toward Bethel, who also advanced to meet him, holding his hands in his pockets. Collier said to Bethel, "You dare not draw your pistol; you are too big a coward to shoot anybody," and keeping his gun to his hip fired at him. The whole load of buckshot entered the left breast just above the heart, and Bethel reeled and fell—not instantly killed however—and supporting himself on his elbow, said, "Boys, you all saw I did not draw a pistol."

Collier seeing that Bethel was not killed, stepped up close to him and fired the second load into his head, blowing out his brains and killing him instantly. He then coolly turned around and loaded his gun again, and remarking that "that was the way I settle such bills," mounted his horse and rode off laughing. He had on his person, besides the gun, a navy six shooter and a bowie knife.

As the train came into Hopefield yesterday evening about five o'clock, the murderer was seen to ride across a field on the road leading to his house with his gun over his shoulder, and up to writing he had not been arrested.

A Coroner's inquest was held over the body at Hopefield immediately after the arrival of the train, and the above facts were substantially stated by Messrs. Greenlaw and Dean, who witnessed the whole affair. The body of the deceased, in charge of Col. Duncan McRae, was then brought across to the city to his friends and relatives.

We learn, since the above was written, that a police force left last night for the scene, and have no doubt ere this arrested the author of this cowardly murder.

We insert the following communication from one of our prominent citizens:
Editors Memphis Appeal:

I notice in your report of the proceedings of the meeting at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday, called ostensibly for the purpose of inciting some interest upon the subject of establishing a line or lines of packet steamers upon the plan suggested by Capt. DeHaven, that I am made to appear in the ridiculous position of having intruded upon the intelligence of that meeting by introducing matters altogether irrelevant to the subject of consideration, and hence in the estimation of your reporter considered unworthy of his attention; with but little knowledge of being known as a wiseacre, I should not complain that your reporter should have remained oblivious to anything I may have said upon that occasion; but I do most respectfully demur to the charge of lacking in etiquette. Laying no claim to the blandishments of an orator, what was said by me may have been presented in a very rough garb. Nevertheless, facts were presented by me, upon the subject in consideration, which seemed to me of vital importance.

[illegible] are the facts? The subject was [illegible] establishment of a line of packets the establ[illegible] and control should be at whose term [illegible] which was being urged Memphis, a[illegible] consideration. upon their [illegible] DeHaven who ably set forth the interests o[illegible] citizens in the proposed line, I took occa[illegible] to draw the attention of the Chamber to the painful fact that Memphis had spent her millions in building up railroad lines; that we had packets to every point, and yet, every railroad and every packet line converging at this point, with but one single exception, were worked against the interests of Memphis. I took occasion to cite them to the law regulating railroad freights, etc. I called upon them to bestir themselves, to the end that these railroad lines should be made to subserve the interests for which they were constructed; and to investigate the mode of conducting the lines of packet steamers now in operation closely, as also the objects of the line of steamers then under consideration, and that if found truly having the interests of Memphis at heart, to give a God speed, and come forward with alacrity to its aid. I took occasion to offer incontrovertible evidence that Memphis offered to the planting community within her radius the best market in the world, and which should induce them to turn their commodities hitherward. In regard to all of which your reporter takes occasion to use the following language:

"Capt. DeHaven sat down, and Mr. Gates arose and said that he was ashamed of the small attendance present, and made some further remarks, statistical and otherwise, which belonged to the class of which we spoke, altogether irrelevant, we have not reported."

Now, Messrs. Editors, if the investigation of these questions, upon the eve of being called upon for further aid in building of lines of transportation possibly as an additional club to belabor our already prostrated city are "irrelevant," then I confess to wearing the ears, otherwise place them where they belong.

S. M. GATES.

The question resolves itself simply to whether Railroads and Packet Lines terminating at a city are advantageous or detrimental to its interests.

The experience of the commercial centers of the world—London, Liverpool, Glasgow, Hamburg, Bremen, Marseilles, Bordeau, New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis and New Orleans—will perhaps answer the question.

We hope our Memphis merchants will, at least, profit by the experience of other cities, and not let the fact that abuses may have been practised by either packet companies or railroad companies blind them to the advantages derived from these channels of trade, which make cities the great receiving and distributing points.

A Flowing Fountain.

Editors Memphis Appeal.

A few weeks ago a correspondent suggested, through the medium of your journal, the utility and propriety of establishing in the center of Court Square a public fountain. Every citizen in Memphis approved of the idea, and considered that it would not only beautify the Park, but that it would tend to cool the surrounding atmosphere. It was, however, considered by many that the project could not be carried to a successful issue, inasmuch as water could not be procured. These objections have all been removed by the presence of Mr. Henry Ries, the proprietor of the Ries patent, who is now in our city, and proposes to try the experiment. Mr. Ries states that by driving iron tubing in the earth to a requisite depth, good drinking water can be procured. Mr. Ries will commence operations early this morning, and feels sanguine of his success. The Park is the principal object of attraction in our city. It is considered a boon to our hard working merchants and mechanics who, after the weary toils of a hot day, resort there to enjoy a pleasant, cool breeze. It is useful throughout the day as a place where servants can repair with children; and the want of a fountain in the Park is conceded a great public loss. A neat flowing fountain would be useful as well as ornamental; and it is hoped that Mr. Ries will be sustained in his enterprise.

Respectfully, J. M. S.

THE CARD OF COL. CROSS.—In yesterday's Avalanche, Col. D. C. Cross addressed a letter to the public, detailing the outrages to which he has been exposed through a series of persecutions that are almost without parallel, and which deserves to be severely punished by those to whom the subordinate officer is amenable. The narrative of Col. Cross is full and complete, and denounces Williams, who exercised the privilege his command gave him, in arresting, imprisoning and subjecting to repeated insults a gentleman, whose sole offense was his determination to bring to punishment a thief and villain who had stolen his property, and had sought protection at the hands of Williams. Col. Cross applied to Gen. Gillem at Vicksburg, through Gen. Dudley, who treated the matter lightly. Col. Cross has not been permitted to remain at home since March, being kept constantly in dread of assassination, and being compelled to avoid the surveillance kept upon his actions by the utmost vigilance and the constant information of friends.

This paper has heretofore adverted to the persecutions to which Col. Cross has been subjected, and we had hoped the Commanding General would have taken cognizance of the acts of his subaltern ere this; but it seems to have escaped his notice, that the liberty and life of a gentleman of untarnished honor were worth preserving. That Col. Cross should feel bitterly and speak warmly in a matter which so materially concerned him, is natural. His wrongs have not been redressed, and the creature Williams is retained in a command which he disgraces, ready to seize the first opportunity to renew his gross injustice and repeat his acts of tyranny.

MEMPHIS AND LITTLE ROCK RAILROAD.—By invitation of our friend, Mr. Chas. J. Martin, the Agent of the Memphis and Little Rock Railroad, we went over to Hopefield yesterday afternoon to meet the first train on its return trip from Edmonson's. While looking at the various tracks up and to the river, we heard the whistle giving notice to the interested that Fox, the efficient runner, was on hand with his machine, right side up and "on time." The train, consisting of the locomotive Brinkley, a comfortable passenger coach and four freight cars, presented quite an imposing appearance. We noticed many fishermen returning with empty baskets, but full strings of fish—results of their day's sport and labor. Our attention was also attracted to two car loads of staves, being the first installment of a large shipment to be made to New Orleans, so we are informed by Mr. Glover, the polite and attentive conductor of the train. Hopefield looked lively, and we could not but feel, on witnessing the coming in from under the sun of this train, what great results for Memphis depended on the completion of this road, and we resolved earnestly in our heart to talk, work and pray for this result. We congratulate our friends over the drink, in the rich woods of Arkansas, for thus having this long desired reliable communication with this city.

THE BENEFIT of the Orphans last night, at the New Memphis Theater, drew a fair house, the larger part of the audience being ladies. Yerger and Harrigan conduct the defense. The case of the State vs. O'Herne—receiving stolen property—is set specially for trial to-day.

The Grand Jury presented the following report:

To Hon. Wm. Hunter, Judge of Criminal Court of Memphis:

The Grand Jury of the Criminal Court of Memphis present the room occupied by this Court as entirely unsuitable. First. On account of its size and want of ventilation; the Court from the necessities resulting from its organization and manner of doing business requires more room than any other Court in the city; engaged in trying the highest felons in which counsel of eminence and ability address the court and juries, and in which public interest is excited, large crowds of spectators attend the sittings of the court; and in trying cases of homicide it is not unfrequent to have five hundred jurymen summoned to attend court. The result is that the room, during such trials, is packed to overflowing; the windows and doors are not only stopped up, but for a distance around packed with listeners, and on such occasions the room is described to us as an oven, in which officers, lawyers and jurors are breathing the fetid air arising from the densely packed body of human beings of all kinds, color and condition, sweltering in the heat of an unventilated room. The room, which was formerly a storeroom, is on the ground floor, and lower than the adjoining alley. It is damp and unhealthy. Immediately in the rear of the courtroom are privies, the effluvia from which must be sickening to the occupants of the courtroom, for during the short time each day in which the Grand Jury are engaged in the courtroom, they have had experience of its repulsiveness. The Clerk of the Criminal Court has no room in which to keep his records, and in which he can transact business without being disturbed by the crowd. All the records, books, indictments and bonds are kept in a desk in one corner of the courtroom. During the session of the Court, these papers must be ready for the inspection of the Court and Attorney General; but as at present conducted, the crowd mix with records and papers as freely as officers, and it is common for papers of highest value to be abstracted. This cannot be avoided at present without putting a guard over them. In addition to the want of a suitable clerk's room next and contiguous to the courtroom, the Clerk should have a large iron safe. Property which has been stolen, pistols which have been used in homicide, counterfeit money which has been passed and other articles which must be used as evidence on the trial are placed in his custody for safe keeping. The Attorney General should have a room adjacent to the court room, where he can privately consult with prosecutors, and in which he can securely keep such papers and records as appertain to his office. An instance has occurred within the past year where nearly all the magistrate's warrants sent up for a whole term were abstracted. The Judge of the court should have a room which could be used as chambers. He is continually applied to out of court for fiats directed to other courts, and writs in his own, and ought to have a place where he can be found for that purpose. There should also be a grand jury and petit jury room, adjacent to the principal room. The court room should, in the judgment of the Grand Jury, be located where they would be free from noise of manufacturing establishments. This is not now the case. They should be large and commodious and well ventilated; they should be conveniently arranged with regard to each other, and supplied with such conveniences as water closets, etc., so arranged that they would not of necessity become nuisances. The Grand Jury are advised that it is not within the scope of their power to redress this matter, but simply to present the court room as unsuitable and insufficient, which will furnish the basis of action for the proper officers, which they here now accordingly do.

Foreman Grand Jury, and twelve others.

RIVER MATTERS.

WEATHER AND RIVERS.

The weather to-day was not so warm as on the two preceding days. The river at this point is falling steadily. The Ohio is falling at Cairo, but is rising at Louisville. It is falling at Cincinnati and Pittsburg. The latest news from the Ohio, however, will be found in our telegraphic columns. The Mississippi is falling at St. Louis, but reported rising at Dubuque, and Arkansas is falling, with scant thirty-four inches to the Rock. We have no later news from White river.

The splendid low-pressure packet Richmond, Capt. Stut Neal, will pass down for New Orleans to-day at 10 a.m. She is one of the finest packets afloat. Woolfolk and Lodge are clerks.

The Lotawanna passed up yesterday. She has been plying in the Ouachita, but there was not water enough in that river for her to remain. She will load at Cincinnati for New Orleans, if a trip can be picked up.

The Sam Vail, Capt. Berry, came in yesterday from Forked Deer, with 900 sacks of corn. Mr. Sam Neal, of Neal's State Gazette, was a passenger on the Vail. He returns home this evening.

The R. E. Lee will pass up for Louisville on Thursday.

A fishing party, composed of Al Harris, R. A. Thompson and one or two others, duly equipped with jugs, poles, etc., left last evening for some point in Arkansas, where they will spend the day in fighting mosquitoes, goats and red-eye.

There is no little complaint among those who deal with steamboats relative to dull times, but it may not occur to them that much of the dullness prevailing here is due to exorbitant prices demanded for everything. Take coal and ice, for instance. The former can be purchased in New Orleans at five cents per bushel less than here, and at Cairo for very little more than one-half the cost of the same article at this point. Ice, which can be bought at Cairo for fifty cents per 100, and at New Orleans for the same, is sold in this market at $1 50 per 100. The monopoly in this latter business has opened the eyes of one or two gentlemen from abroad, and we think we can safely promise our river men that next season they will be

Our Latest Improved

NEW SCALE PIANO-FORTE.

GROVESTEEN & CO.,

499 Broadway, N. Y.,

THESE instruments, after the most flattering testimonials from the first Pianists in the country, who, at our solicitation, have tested them in the severest manner possible, have been pronounced THE FINEST SQUARE PIANO-FORTE MADE IN THE WORLD.

It has always been our policy, during the thirty-six years that we have manufactured Pianos, twelve thousand of which are now in use in the United States and Europe, to give the finest instrument at the lowest cost. Our superior facilities enable us to offer them, the retail price to three hundred dollars less than any other First Class House.

The tone of these instruments are remarkable for their peculiar Sweetness and Great Brilliancy, never losing their quality when forced to their utmost capacity. The lower register retaining its positiveness, does not destroy the middle and upper registers by mingling with them in disagreeable confusion, the refined beauty of tone being equally delightful to the unpracticed and to the most cultivated ear.

They are an entirely new style of Piano, finished in the most superb manner, with four full round corners front and back, heavily carved legs and Lyre Serpentine Base richly moulded, and each instrument is fully warranted for five years.

MEMPHIS APPEAL

For the Memphis Appeal:

MAY BELLE COCKE.

ORBIT, JUNE 15, 1867.

"Whom the Gods love, die young."

Gone to her God
Ere her young heart had learned to know
The pangs of grief, the shafts of woe—
Ere her young feet in sin had trod,
We laid her neath the cool, green sod
To rest, to-day one year ago.
Gone to her God!

A fair young flower,
She bloomed upon the earth a day,
Too sweet for earth, she passed away
Into a fairer, greener bower.
God in His love, as in His power,
Claimed for himself our darling May,
Our sweet May-flower.

We do not weep,
For though the deep, heart-rending sigh
Wells from the heart, we closed thine eye
Forever in a quiet sleep,
Gave vent to grief so strong, so deep—
But we'd not call thee from the sky.
No more we weep!

It was thy gain
To find sweet life and calm repose
Where new-born life in beauty grows
Far from this world of strife and pain.
Ere thy pure soul had known a stain
To 'scape from earth and all its woes—
Ah, 'twas thy gain!

Gone to her home!
Upon a loving Savior's breast
She finds the soul's sweet, lasting rest,
While we 'mid fear and peril roam.
But we shall meet in that blue dome
Where gather all the loved and blest,
Shall meet—at home!

JAMES H. SULLIVAN.

MEMPHIS, June 15, 1868.

BY TELEGRAPH.

Noon Dispatches.

BROWNSVILLE, June 16.—In the Supreme Court this morning the Gallaway case was passed until to-morrow. The law docket was taken up and the case of Fargason vs. Mifleton tried.

NEW YORK, June 16.—The Herald's Richmond special correspondent says he is authorized to state that Chief Justice Chase will accept the Democratic nomination on a platform embodying universal suffrage. The Chief Justice, who is now in Richmond, receives numerous letters daily from Republicans in the North, offering to co-operate with the Democratic party, in case he is the nominee, and the platform is of the kind set forth.

Henry H. Wise and the Chief Justice visited the African Church in Richmond together, last Sunday, and heard divine service.

Two persons were severely injured in a street car in Brooklyn yesterday by a collision with a cart. One of the injured parties, named John Murose, will not recover.

The formal reception of the naval cadets by the army cadets, took place at West Point yesterday afternoon. Gen. Grant awarded the diplomas to the graduating class, and the annual address to the graduates was delivered by Prof. Coffee. The affair wound up with a ball, at which the navies and their young army friends attended.

The Herald's Port-au-Prince correspondence says Salnave, in a recent interview with the United States, French, English and Spanish ministers, declared his determination not to yield to his antagonists, and to hold his position at Port-au-Prince under all circumstances. The British frigate Phebe and American war steamer Penobscot were at that time.

On the 15th Salnave sent a deputation of his generals to the army of southern revolutionists to effect a compromise. He proposed to retain his office three years, and give his ministry to the southern generals, and that the army of the South would enter immediately into the city, and join with him in repelling the Cacos. These propositions were indignantly refused.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

OFFICE OF THE DAILY APPEAL,
MEMPHIS, June 16, 1868.

The money market is easy and will be so for some weeks to come. In consequence of this comparative abundance of money local speculators are turning their attention to stocks and bonds, causing quite a stir in securities of almost every kind. The Eastern demand is also improving daily, and enough is bought to almost make up the deficiency in exchange which has prevailed since cotton ceased to be the main source of our supply. Memphis and Charleston stock, Mississippi Central 24 mortgage bonds, and our city bonds are more in favor than others, and are not offered freely. We quote Memphis and Charleston Railroad stock at 52 to 52½; Mississippi Central 24 mortgage bonds, 38 to 40; City bonds, 53½ to 54.

Exchange is in fair supply and rates are unchanged.

City Scrip is quiet and firm; nominally 77 to 78, buying, but no amount of it could be found at less than 80, while dealers are not selling at all. Ledger balances for the payment of taxes, in sums to suit, we quote at 80 to 85c, selling

County Warrants are not in demand, brokers buy at 60 to 62; selling at 63 to 65c as to amount.

Police Scrip is weak; buying at 80c; selling at 85 to 86c.

The new fifteen cent notes have just been issued by the Treasury Department at Washington. The notes are of the same width, but somewhat shorter than the twenty-five cent notes. On the right side of the face is a vignette of Gen. Grant, and on the left a vignette of Gen. Sherman. Between the vignettes are the words "fifteen cents," prominently displayed, and immediately beneath the figures "15." The back is similar in appearance to that of the twenty-five cent note, with the denomination on each end.

It is estimated that the Barings will make more than a million and a quarter of dollars out of their recent negotiation of the Massachusetts loan.

England has imported, according to the London Times, in three months, 1,241,382 cwt. of wheat from Egypt, and about 50 per cent. more from the United States, but should both these sources of supply be cut off, there would still be no famine if the following from the Spectator can be relied upon, which says:

At 70s per quarter India could supply our whole demand without much feeling the loss. It is calculated that there are often 10,000,000 quarters of fine wheat rotting in the Punjaub alone for want of demand, utterly useless except to feed hogs, which the prejudices of the people forbid them to breed. If science ever succeed in banishing the weevil from the wheat-shops and preserving mutton for six months, the English people may yet be fed to the throat on flesh and flour at less than the cost of their insufficient food.

Judge Daly, in a recent decision relative to lost or stolen bonds, says that a purchaser in good faith—for a valuable consideration—of Government securities transferable by delivery, acquires a title valid against all the world; and that to constitute want of good faith there must be knowledge of the want of title or the means of knowledge to which the purchaser wilfully shuts his eyes, that it will not suffice that there was on his part a want of care and caution, or gross negligence, or a knowledge of circumstances which would excite suspicion in the mind of a prudent man—the rule in respect to malafides being a question of honesty or dishonesty—of the existence either of guilty knowledge or of that wilful ignorance which is equivalent to it. We have quoted the opinion thus in detail, because of its importance to those dealing in Government securities, and parties who hold them for permanent investment should bear in mind that if stolen or lost, by this decision, all reclamation—should they afterward be traced—is of no avail unless complicity or knowledge of their surreptitious possession before purchase can be proved.

Wm. A. Pile, Senator from the St. Louis District, writes to parties in that city as follows: Yours of the 5th inst., inclosing resolutions of Merchants' Exchange on whisky tax, is received. The tax on whisky will unquestionably be reduced. Seventy-five cents is the highest figure now thought of. The Committee of Ways and Means favor this rate. I think a majority of the House favor fifty cents. In addition to the tax per gallon, there will be a license for distillers and rectifiers, and a tax on the fermenting capacity of the still, our object being to diversify the application of the tax, and render evasion of the law more difficult.

The Liverpool Cotton market was firm at the opening to-day; Uplands 10⅜ to 10¼d, Orleans 10⅝ to 11d. At noon it was still firm, and at the close was firmer; Uplands 10¼d, Orleans 11d; sales 12,000 bales. In New York at the opening cotton was dull and prices unchanged. At noon the market was dull; Uplands 28½c. At 2 p.m. prices were irregular, holders asking an advance of ⅛c. Low Middlings sold at 27½c. Our market was inactive, but holders were asking an advance on yesterday's rates. We have no sales of any note to quote. Middlings nominally 28c.

THE NONSENSE OF LEGISLATION.

We remember to have seen it stated, some fifteen or twenty years ago, that of a large number of mercantile houses, engaged in business on Long Wharf, Boston, some twenty-five years before, there were not more than two or three who had not failed.

Various causes concur to introduce into the business of merchants in this country many of the ingredients that constitute gaming. The whole life of the merchant is too often a game of chance; and the causes for this are more numerous now than ever heretofore. Chief among these causes are the disturbed condition of the country, fluctuations in the value of the currency and in the prices of staples, the ever-changing legislation of the country, and the intermeddling of the Treasury with matters that most sensibly affect the business of individuals.

Thus there are more causes here than elsewhere, for insolvencies and bankruptcies. Nowhere are desperate risks so recklessly taken, and fortunes so adventured as on the cast of the die. Fire and shipwreck are more destructive of fortunes here than in other countries; and speculation is nowhere so venturous and so disastrous.

There is no country, therefore, in which there is so great a necessity for fixed and permanent bankrupt acts, as this. STORY says, (Comm. on the Constitution, III—4, 5,)—"The general object of all bankrupt and insolvent laws is, on the one hand, to secure to creditors an appropriation of the property of their debtors pro tanto to the discharge of their debts, whenever the latter are unable to discharge the whole amount; and, on the other hand, to relieve unfortunate and honest debtors from perpetual bondage to their creditors, either in the shape of unlimited imprisonment, to coerce payment of their debts, or of an absolute right to appropriate and monopolize all their future earnings. The latter course obviously destroys all encouragement to industry and enterprize on the part of the unfortunate debtor, by taking from him all the just rewards of his labor, and leaving him a miserable pittance, dependent upon the bounty or forbearance of his creditors. . . . One of the first duties of legislation, while it provides amply for the sacred obligation of contracts, and the remedies to enforce them, certainly is, pari passu, to relieve the unfortunate and meritorious debtor from a slavery of mind and body, which cuts him off from a fair enjoyment of the common benefits of society, and robs his family of the fruits of his labor, and the benefits of his paternal superintendence. A National Government which did not possess this power of legislation, would be little worthy of the exalted fortunes of guarding the happiness, and supporting the rights of a free people. It might guard against political oppressions, only to render private oppressions more intolerable, and more glaring."

Story said, in 1833, when he published his Commentaries on the Constitution, upon whose title page he placed BURKE's definition of government,—"a contrivance of human wisdom to provide for human wants,"—"It cannot but be matter of regret that a power so salutary should have hitherto remained a mere dead letter. It is extraordinary that a commercial nation, spreading its enterprize through the whole world, and possessing such an infinitely varied internal trade, reaching almost to every cottage in the most distant States, should voluntarily surrender up a system, which has elsewhere enjoyed such general favour, as the best security of creditors against fraud, and the best protection of debtors against oppression."

The Bankrupt Act of 1841, enacted by a Whig Congress, was to some extent liable to the objection that it was intended for the benefit of debtors only; and its provisions that were intended to protect and secure the interests of creditors were not in practice found to be efficient. Wisdom would have dictated to succeeding Congresses the curing of its defects by amendatory laws; but it was eagerly seized upon by the Democratic party as a topic of declamation against the Whig party, and denounced in unmeasured terms as meant to enable debtors to rob their creditors; and the result was its sudden repeal. The practical effect was the same as if an act had been passed solely for the purpose of giving relief to a particular number of persons burthened with debt at the time, and to them only. Undoubtedly frauds were committed by means of the facilities for fraud which it offered, and which all bankrupt laws, how carefully soever enacted, cannot but afford for the perpetration of fraud. But, if it were so, the chief mischief was done during the two years next after its passage, and if, after that, it had been judiciously amended, and its defects remedied as time disclosed them, its operation would have become regular, salutary and beneficial. But whenever one party attacks a measure for which another is responsible, and to make the measure odious is to profit the attacking party, it is always dealt with more or less unfairly and unjustly; and it will be deemed better policy to destroy than to amend. Nor, during a struggle for victory between two parties, are judicious reforms or amendments ever made.

The Bankrupt Act now in force presents one singular feature, at utter variance with the dictates of justice and common sense, and which seems to us to prove the Congress that enacted it, to be unfit to exercise the functions of legislators, inasmuch as it convicts them of a lack of wisdom and an obtuseness of the moral sense alike.

Section 33 of the Act of March 2d, 1867, provides that in all proceedings in Bankruptcy commenced after one year from the time it went into operation, no discharge shall be granted to a debtor whose assets do not pay fifty per centum of the claims against his estate, unless the assent in writing of a majority in number and value of his creditors who have proved their claim is filed in the case at or before the time of the application for the discharge.

The provision applies in cases of voluntary and forced Bankruptcy alike. A creditor of an honest merchant, holding a protested note or bill for one hundred dollars, may force the merchant into bankruptcy; and if it is found that his assets are insufficient to pay fifty per cent. of his indebtedness, his creditors may refuse to consent to his discharge, all he has on earth may be taken and sold at enormous sacrifice, and when he is penniless he may be refused a discharge, he is left to be the bond-slave of his creditors, to whom his future earnings belong, he can never afterwards have a home or relieve himself of the intolerable burthen of his servitude, and life become to him a hell, over the great gate of which are written the terrible words of Dante, too well known to need to be quoted.

It seems to us that to exact this is to violate every principle of justice and mercy on which bankrupt laws are founded, and by which alone they are justified,—as those principles are stated by Story, and recognized by all enlightened Jurists and Statesmen. It seems to us that the merchant whose assets will not pay fifty cents on the dollar, is the man to whom the benefits of the bankrupt act may the most justly be extended. He whose assets will pay that per centum will rarely need to take the benefit of the act. If, by a succession of calamities, a man is suddenly reduced from affluance to poverty, if the red demon of fire consumes all his estate in a night, or storm wrecks his ships and makes him a beggar, or the failure of a bank or the treachery of those trusted by him crushes him at a blow, with what pretence of justice can he be held less entitled to a discharge than the more fortunate man, on whom calamity has laid its hand more lightly, and who is certainly no more hopeless and helpless than he?

For the law to remit the unfortunate and beggared debtor to the grudged mercies of his ravenous and perhaps disappointed or suspicious creditors, instead of itself discharging him, when it is palpable that all his property will not pay five per centum of his debt, is to reverse the whole policy on which bankrupt acts proceed, is to reverse the telescope and look through it from the wrong end, is for the law to ingloriously abdicate its royalty of beneficence and sneak out of responsibility.

Was it the idea of the luminaries of Statesmanship who concocted the law in question, that there is more danger of fraud, when a man's assets are less than fifty per cent. of his debts, than when they are more? Was it imagined that the superior claim to mercy of the more able debtor consists in the larger amount which he is able to pay his creditors?

It seems to us, also, that to say to debtors, "If you will hasten to rush into bankruptcy within a year, you shall be discharged of your debts without the consent of your creditors, even if your assets prove not to be sufficient to pay one cent on the dollar; but if you do not make haste, if you do not cease from all efforts to avoid bankruptcy, if you do not go into it within the year, you shall not be discharged, if your assets do not pay half your debts," was to offer strong inducements to all who were in any wise embarrassed, or who wished to defraud their creditors, to go into bankruptcy as soon as possible, and to struggle no longer. It was an open enticement to fraud.

As to all persons who are hereafter so unfortunate as to be so far ruined as that their assets will not pay fifty per cent. of their debts, the provision in question operates exactly like a repeal of all the provisions of the law that are for the benefit of debtors; while it leaves in force against them all the provisions that are for the benefit of the creditors. It becomes, as to them, a poor, miserable, lame, limping, halting contrivance, putting them entirely at the mercy of their creditors, and itself simply playing the part of Sheriff or Constable, to seize and sell their estate, and turn them naked out upon the world, with a mountain upon them to be borne as a burthen during life.

Is there not sense enough, even in a Radical Congress, to see the injustice and inequality of such a provision of law? Or have they, in persecuting the Southern States, utterly lost all sense of justice.

Whither are we Drifting?

Editors Memphis Appeal:

I see a notice in the monetary column of one of the city papers, stating that the Board of Mayor and Aldermen have arranged to take up $450,000 of city scrip by giving parties holding it, bonds at 65 cents on the dollar, taking the scrip at par. It is a matter of serious inquiry to the taxpayers to know, whether this is economical financiering? Would it not be well to look before we take such a fearful leap? Let us elucidate this masterly stroke of financial policy, and note its results. To cancel $450,000 of scrip, they give $692,307 in bonds, upon which our citizens will be taxed for the next thirty years. Let us see what this scrip is to cost us:

Amount of Bonds	$ 692,307
Interest for thirty years	1,246,153
Amounting to	$1,938,460

Much of this scrip was illegally issued; in many instances three dollars given for one; in others, to redeem scrip asserted to be lost—all of which tended to render it of little value, whereby the present holders were enabled to buy it up for 30 to 40 cents on the dollar. Lucky fellows, to get now, for every $35 worth of scrip, $154 in bonds—for that scrip, taken at par, and the bonds at 65, verifies these figures. There needs no microscope to see how this sort of financiering benefits the few who have bought up the scrip, but the ghost of Nick Biddle could not reveal anything but disaster and oppression to the tax payers. At the time the populace—not the tax payers—voted to issue a million of bonds, it was stated, and so understood by, some, that the bonds would take up the scrip, dollar for dollar. Even this should have satisfied the most greedy—to get 18 per cent. for his investment, and at the maturity of the bonds a return of two and a half times his principal. We are informed that the Mississippi and Tennessee Railroad Company, the Memphis and Ohio, the Mississippi Central, and nearly all the railroads in the South, have funded their past indebtedness in their bonds, dollar for dollar. Had our city Council adopted the same policy, they would have saved in the transaction above mentioned:

Bonds	$ 42,307
And the interest	436,158
Amounting to	$678,460

Is it just to wring this large sum out of the already oppressed tax payers, and give it as a bonus to the speculators in city scrip? Does it inspire confidence at home or credit abroad? But the credit of the city has "gone up"—like a rocket.(?) When we reflect that our national debt is three thousand millions, our State debt thirty millions, (more than half of which has been created since the war), our city debt between three and four millions, and the county debt we know not how much, is it not well to pause and enquire, whither are we drifting?

MEMPHIS.

GEN. GRANT AND HIS FRIENDS.

The Radicals take pleasure in referring to the late Hon. I. N. Morris, of Quincy, Ill., as a leading Democrat. In the Summer of 1864, we heard him denounced in Illinois, even while he was in Congress, as not only uncertain, but a political traitor. A friend insisted he was true to the cause, and we could not credit that so much turpitude existed in one who appeared so earnest in his attachment to Democratic principles, especially after the denunciation we heard, he appeared in a long Democratic address to his constituents. And yet, in a month or two he had wheeled directly and squarely into the Radical line, as though he had not one thought in common with his late Democratic friends. This is the man to whom reference is made by the Chicago Republican of the 8th, who received a letter from Gen. Grant, who, in speaking with his friends, may be supposed to be under no restraint. The Republican says:

The Hon. Isaac N. Morris, an old and prominent Democrat of Quincy, Ill., who has repeatedly been honored by his party by being placed in high official position, having several times represented his district in Congress, made a speech in Quincy recently, in which he declared that the highest welfare of the nation demands the election of Gen. Grant to the Presidency. His speech was carefully prepared, and an able one. Col. Morris read to the audience the following letter from Gen. Grant, written in 1864, in reply to a query from himself whether Grant would accept the Presidential nomination or not:

NASHVILLE, TENN., January 20, 1864.

Hon. I. N. Morris:

Dear Sir: Your letter of the 29th of December I did not receive until two days ago. I receive many such, but do not answer. Yours, however, is written in such a kindly spirit, and as you ask for an answer confidentially, I will not withhold it. Allow me to say, however, that I am not a politician, never was, and hope never to be, and could not write a political letter. My only desire is to serve the country in her present trials. To do this efficiently, it is necessary to have the confidence of the army and the people. I know no way to better secure this end than by a faithful performance of my duties. So long as I hold my present position, I do not believe that I have the right to criticise the policy or orders of those above me, or to give utterance to views of my own, except to the authorities at Washington, through the General-in-Chief of the army. In this respect I know I have proven myself a "good soldier."

In your letter you say that I have it in my power to be the next President. This is the last thing in the world I desire. I would regard such a circumstance as being highly unfortunate for myself, if not for the country. Through Providence I have attained to more than I ever hoped, and with the position I now hold in the regular army, if allowed to retain it, will be more than satisfied. I certainly shall never shape a sentiment, or the expression of a thought, with a view of being a candidate for office. I scarcely know the inducement that could be held out to me to accept office, and unhesitatingly say that I unmitely prefer my present position to that of any civil office within the gift of the people.

This is a private letter to you, not intended for others to see or read, because I want to avoid being heard from by the public except through acts in the performance of my legitimate duties.

I have the honor to be, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

U. S. GRANT.

The True Reconstruction Party.

The best plan for the rehabilitation of the South yet proposed is succinctly stated in the following "platform" of the Bienville parish Immigration Aid Society:

Resolved, 1. That we invite all industrious persons who desire to engage in agriculture, manufactures or the mechanic arts, to seek homes among us.

2. That we have cleared land enough for five times the present population.

3. That we will sell on time, lease or rent a portion of our lands on reasonable terms to all industrious persons who may desire to settle among us.

4. That we pledge ourselves to furnish all our surplus provisions to those who may be induced to immigrate to our region at as low rates as it is possible to afford them.

5. That we invite Northern capitalists to establish manufactures in our midst, and that we promise them all the assistance and encouragement in our power.

6. That in this invitation we exclude none who are likely to make good citizens; but invite those from the North, or from the East, and all from Europe, who may desire to seek new homes.

7. That we especially invite those from the States east of the Mississippi to examine our region before going elsewhere in search of homes.

—It is reported that Mrs. Gaines has received anonymous letters from New Orleans, warning her against the execution of her rights under the will of Daniel Clark, if she would escape personal violence. Mrs. Gaines is much more true-hearted and brave, than to be intimidated by any such weak and cowardly attempts. If but the miscreants could be found, it should be a pleasure to strip them of even the means of procuring sepulture.

MEMPHIS APPEAL.

ALBERT PIKE & CO.

Vera Atque Honesta Dicere.

For President of the United States,

ANDREW JOHNSON,

OF TENNESSEE.

[Subject only to the decision of the National Democratic Conservative Convention.]

PLATFORM OF THE TENNESSEE DEMOCRACY.

1st. The Conservative men of Tennessee, putting aside all questions decided by the war, accept the title of 'Democrats,' and formally unite themselves with the Democratic party as it now exists.

2d. The question of the right of a State to secede from the Union has been decided by arms, and that decision should be accepted as final and conclusive.

3d. Nevertheless, while the Constitution makes the Federal Government supreme, it is so only with well defined limitations and restrictions, leaving the States large rights and powers over their domestic concerns, and making them coequal in respect of such rights; and these rights have not been impared by the result of the war, or the powers of the General Government aggrandized by it, to the endangerment of public liberty.

4th. The extinguishment of African Slavery is recognized as a fact, ratified by a binding Constitutional Amendment.

5th. The investiture of begroeswith the right of suffrage, by the Congress of the United States, and the disfranchisement of white men, by the same authority, is a gross usurpation of power, and a policy unjust, unwise and oppressive, and tending to excite a war of races: the white men of America are entitled to superiority and supremacy in the administration of the Federal and State governments; and any measure intended to deprive them of it, or to divide or impair it, greatly endangers the perpetuity of free republican institutions.

6th. The faith of the nation is pledged to the payment of the national debt, according to the terms of the laws under which the bonds were issued, and not otherwise. The time of payment of the bonds ought not to be extended; the principal of the five-twenty bonds ought to be paid in currency, and the money granted to the National banks to be withdrawn.

7th. The Government bonds should be taxed in the hands of the bondholders, equally with other property.

8th. The doctrines and practices of the Radical party, which endeavors, by encroaching upon the powers of the Executive and Judicial branches of the Government, to absorb in the Legislative Department all powers, tend to the destruction of the Republican system of Government and the civil liberties of the people.

9th. Equal and exact justice to all men, of whatever State or persuasion, religious or political; peace, commerce and honest friendship with all nations; entangling alliances with none; the support of the State Governments in all their rights, as the most competent administration of our domestic concerns and the surest bulwark against anti-Republican tendencies; the preservation of the General Government in its whole constitutional vigor, as the sheet anchor of peace at home and safety abroad; a jealous care of the rights of election by the people and the supremacy of the civil over the military authority.

10th. Andrew Johnson the first choice of the Democracy of Tennessee; but their Delegates left free to unite in selecting another as the candidate for the Presidency.

SALMON P. CHASE.

The Assistant Editor of the APPEAL expressed his opinion yesterday in regard to the man whose name is at the head of this article. We propose now to express those of the Editor-in-Chief, which we had concluded for the present not to do.

We agree with our neighbor, the Avalanche, that the nomination of Chief Justice Chase, as the candidate of the Democratic party for the Presidency, is one not fit to be made.

The Democratic party owes its vitality to its principles. They are its life-blood; and when it abandons them, or barters them in the hope of winning a victory, it will go to pieces, as it will deserve to do, like a vessel borne by an irresistible current against a lee-shore. It does not need the warnings of history te teach us this lesson; but if it did, they are to be found on every page. For parties as for individuals, honesty is the best policy. Crooked courses are rarely the ways to permanent prosperity, or even to temporary victory; and if a victory could be gained by accepting Chase as a candidate, it would be a barren victory, fruitless, or its fruits like the apples of the Dead Sea, that turned to dust and ashes in the mouth.

It is the triumph of the Constitution and of principle, that the country now needs; and not the triumph of a party. For the Democratic party to make Chase its candidate, is to pledge itself irrevocably to the fatal principle of universal suffrage, which means political corruption and miscegenation, and national demoralization. Chase will not consent to run on any other platform; and to accept him is to accept the burthen of all his heresies, and incorporate them in the Democratic creed. Already the New York World announces its willingness to accept negro suffrage as a finality, and the support of Chase by the New York Herald means the same thing.

The Chief Justice presided, with dignity, firmness and impartiality on the trial of the President, as it was simply his sworn duty as a magistrate to do, and that has inclined us to forget his antecedents, and believe him half a Conservative. But we do not forget his pilgrimages Southward, after he became Chief Justice, to secure the negro vote for the Radical faction, nor that he then disgraced the ermine that he wore. The Jacobin faction owes its vitality to him, as much as to any other man in the United States. If he should be nominated by the Democratic party, and elected, he will owe it no debt of gratitude; for he will well know that it selected him, not out of any love it bore him, but to use him; and he will be justifiable in using it, and then abandoning it, to renew his old associations. He could not be accused of infidelity to his obligations; for he will have contracted none; nor of abandonment of principle, for he will have abandoned none.

It can hardly be expected, we suppose, that any Southern delegate to the Convention will assent to the nomination of a candidate who is to be permitted to dictate negro suffrage as an essential part of the platform on which he is to stand. Victory on such a platform would be the most fatal of defeats. To assent to it would be so utter a betrayal of the people of the South as at once to outlaw the man who should so undertake to sell his country for a mess of pottage.

If we have not learned that to follow the ignis fatuus of expediency eventually leads men, parties and States into the quagmires of dishonour, and gives them calamities for a sure inheritance, we have learned little from the bitter lessons of the past and the misfortunes that darken the evil days of the present. The principles of a party cannot be in abeyance. They must be the living springs of its conduct and its policy, or it degenerates into a miserable faction, that will die in ignominy, and its corpse not be deemed worthy of decent burial.

We do not believe that the name of Chase will be seriously considered by the Convention, in connection with the Presidency. It is pretended by certain journals and their correspondents that the proposition to nominate him is winning favour everywhere; but we do not believe that he is gaining adherents within the Democratic party. He is put forward as the candidate of the National Bank interest, and by those who desire that the bonds of the Government shall not be taxed, and that the principal of the five-twenties shall be paid in gold.

The idea of making a third party, calling it Conservative, and placing Chase at its head, is eminently absurd. Such a party cannot grow to respectable proportions. No party that is in favour of negro suffrage can be Conservative; for that is one of the brood of abominations hatched from the serpent's eggs of Radicalism, and any party that accepts it becomes thereby radicalized.

If the contest in the Convention is between men like Pendleton and Hancock, between Democrats and men in favour of a Government of white men for white men, the Southern Delegates, we think, ought to refrain from voting. But if the name of Chase is proposed, they cannot choose but declare against him; for if he should be nominated they ought to withdraw from the Convention, and have no further part or lot in it.

We have heard that Catholic sailors, tired of fish and eggs, if they had eggs to eat, during Lent, had a habit of fastening a ham to a line, letting it over the ship's side into the sea, and drawing it up again, repeating the formula, "Down Gammon, up Salmon!"—after which they could eat it without needing absolution or doing penance. No other process, we think, can make a Democrat out of Salmon P. Chase.

NASHVILLE UNION AND DISPATCH.

For some reason this paper has not been received at the APPEAL office for some months. If dropped from the exchange list, it was through inadvertence. As an exponent of a large section of the Democratic party, we consider it indispensable. It has certainly corrected many gross inaccuracies that interested persons desired to interpolate in the proceedings of the late State Democratic Convention. Our heart is with it in the Democratic cause, and we bear witness to the candor and ability with which it asserts its principles. We shall expect to see its bright face once more, and shall see that the exchange is properly conducted.

We publish this resume, not because it represents correctly what it purports to repsesent, but because we have not the article before us to which it alludes, and do not know that it would be worth the room, were we to republish it. There is nothing "semi-official" in the original publication,—only a sensational:

A SEMI-OFFICIAL STATEMENT OF MR. PENDLETON'S VIEWS.

We print on our first page an interesting account of an interview recently had by a correspondent of the New York Herald with Mr. Pendleton, in which the former failed to get the great greenback redemptionist "views." Nothing daunted, however, he had recourse to one of the most intimate of Mr. Pendleton's friends, with whom he has "no reservation." From this friend the correspondent obtained the intelligence that Mr. Pendleton is not disposed to yield his claims to the Presidential nomination; but that the sudden appearance of Mr. Chase on the political stage as a rival to himself has been so unlooked for that he has formed no opinion decisively on the subject. He is a great admirer of the Chief Justice, and concedes that he has wisdom, ability and integrity; considers him honorable and consistent in his political views—hence lacks apprehension that Mr. Chase will accept if he can get the Democratic nomination. As to the bond question, Mr. Pendleton maintains that every bond, except the ten-forties and those issued before the legal tender act, is payable in the greenbacks of the country—the opinions or assumption of Mr. Chase, when Secretary of the Treasury, to the contrary notwithstanding. He is emphatic on the point that the bonds should be taxed. He thinks that the finances of the country possess the capacity of paying off the national debt in five years if judiciously managed, and argues thus—the current expenses of the Government can be reduced to $250,000,000 a year. The revenues have amounted to $500,000,000 a year, and can be made to reach that amount again. This will give an annual sinking fund of $280 000,000, or enough to pay off the national debt, interest and all, in five years. The five-twenty bonds should be paid off in currency as rapidly as possible. Mr. Pendleton is decidedly opposed to the National Bank system. He asserts that the Government wastes money in the National Banks sufficient to pay the national debt in less than sixteen years. He wants the National Banks abolished. He does not want the currency suddenly contracted or at all expanded, but thinks that the cause of the depreciation of the currency is the redundancy of the paper money, the lack of faith on the part of the community and the consequent impairment of public credit.

The great defect of the present financial policy, in his judgment, is the conversion of non-interest bearing debts into interest bearing bonds. His opinion is that taxation will take care of itself when the more important questions of the regulation of the finances and the payment of the national debts are disposed of. For the present it is only secondary in interest and importance. "He is not over sanguine" as to the success of the Democratic party next fall, but thinks that it would increase the value of paper money, while a Radical victory would enhance the value of gold. He thinks each State should decide the question of suffrage for itself. He is opposed to the enfranchisement of the negro in the South, by Congress, and thinks that if the black man is committed to the care of his white fellow-citizens in that region he will be subjected to no more injustice than is the woman of the North, who is not allowed to vote, but is still secured in all her rights. He will support Mr. Chase cordially if that gentleman be nominated. There is nothing new in all this, but as it comes in a professed semi-official shape, we have given it succinct form for ready reference.

—The Sarsfield Guards, of New Haven, Conn., have accepted the challenge of the Montgomery Guards, of Boston, to drill for the championship of the United States.

—The widow of the Marquis DeBoissy, better known as Countess Guiccioli, is about to publish her memoirs, which will contain a great many curious details respecting Lord Byron.

—Gold is used more extensively in the arts than is generally imagined. It is stated that nearly $50,000 worth of this metal is consumed every year in the decoration of Chinaware, in England, principally at the Staffordshire potteries. The total amount used in gilding generally in England and France is estimated at $800,000 per annum. The trades in England, using standard gold, go regularly to the mint and purchase the clipped sovereigns by weight. In this way the Government saves the expense of recoinage of the light pieces, and satisfies a legitimate demand of the industrial arts.

Chase and the Democracy.

Hamilton Smith, Esq., of Connelton, Indiana, a college classmate of Chief Justice Chase and a life-long personal friend, but a most pronounced Democrat, has recently published a letter, in which he accords to that distinguished gentleman the highest qualities of head and heart, declaring that his selection as a candidate "would not be unacceptable to us, and might, in this crisis of our nation, draw to us, and to the side of law and order and peace, enough of the old Republicans to insure us, if not a party victory, at least, and what is of greater importance, the healing of party and sectional feuds, and the return of our former prosperity."

In all respects, excepting his free soil doctrines, Mr. Smith regards Mr. Chase a Democrat. That he is politically honest he infers from his long unpopular advocacy of abolition ideas; that he is personally honest he infers from the fact that, the originator of greenbacks, he retired from the Treasury a comparatively poor man; that he is wise he infers from the fact that greenbacks are not as valueless as the old Continental currency, or the assignats of the French Directory; that he is above party platforms he infers from his decisions as a Judge, and his rulings as President of the High Court of Impeachment.

Hamilton Smith makes his case as strong as sophistry can weave it, but will be non-suited. Chief Justice Chase has no sort of chance with the Democracy, although in Ohio he made a bargain once, by which, with the addition of two Abolitionists, (all there were,) and the Democratic members, he was elected United States Senator; and afterwards, by blending about 30,000 Abolitionists with the Know-Nothing party, he was elected Governor of the State. In both instances he gave up all the minor positions to the affiliating party. He was only concerned for Mr. Chase, and cared not what became of the other offices.

More Military Musings.

On yesterday, we learn, Judge Meredith received a summons to appear today before Gen. Granger, the Federal officer commanding this sub-district, to answer a charge of illegally naturalizing foreigners in his court. We know nothing of the hidden influences which induced Gen. Granger to issue the summons, but it strikes us as monstrous and absurd that he, a soldier, wholly ignorant of the law, should undertake to decide what is "legal" or "illegal" in the course of a learned Judge like Judge Meredith, the purity of whose life is only equalled by his learning.

The above paragraph, which we copy from the Richmond Enquirer, meets our hearty concurrence. Judge Meredith, the gentlemen above referred to, is one of the purest and most accomplished jurists of Virginia. No surer indication of a want of personal courage and manhood could be afforded than by these acts of wanton insolence and insult offered by military tyrants to gentlemen, the latchet of whose shoes they are not worthy to unloose. It is not too much to hope and expect that for all these acts these creatures will be some day called to a stern reckoning, and the day, we believe, is not far off.—National Intelligencer.

THE following is said to be the last from Mr. Vallandigham, who though virtually laid upon the shelf, is about as live a man as Chase:

THE PLATFORM AS IT SHOULD BE.

Mr. Vallandigham lays it down as inevitable that "any nomination or platform at New York which tacitly or openly concedes that the Democratic party during the war made itself odious by complicity or sympathy with 'treason,' and therefore must be openly killed off or quietly suppressed, or which is tacitly or expressly committed to the proscription of the men in the West and West who refused active support to the war," would be followed by a convention of bolters who would proclaim the ancient and rugged principles of Democracy. Absolute equality and toleration, without regard to the war, is demanded for all men—copperhead Democrats, war Democrats, and Republicans—who set with the Democratic party in the coming struggle against Radicalism. "All men ought to be ready to consider and adjust, solely with reference to the solid and permanent interests of the country, all questions of preference as to men and all non-essentials in question of policy," so as to secure the overthrow of the Radicals in 1868.

GENERAL ITEMS.

—Mrs. Beecher Stowe, after a winter's residence in Florida, says that "the Southern people are no more inclined to resist the laws or to foster the spirit of rebellion than Vermont is. They desire only peace and the restoration of the Union." Mrs. Stowe used to be very good authority in everything relating to slavery and the South, and we presume that what she says of the feeling and wish of the Southern people is true.

—The fashion started by the Radicals of holding a side show of the sailors and soldiers, when the grand convocation was held at Chicago, is about to be imitated at New York. It is said that a large delegation of ex-officers and soldiers from Illinois will attend the Conservative Soldiers' and Sailors' Convention, to be held in New York on the 4th proximo, headed by Maj.-Gen. John A. McClernand. Gen. John Love, of Indiana, organizer and grand commander of "the Union White Boys in Blue," will also be on hand with 400 or 500 members of the organization, in their peculiar uniform. Large delegations from other States are also promised.

—John Gordon, a saloon keeper, was murdered on the night of the 31st of May, in Reynolds City, Montana, by a rowdy named George Ballou. A jury of miners were at once summoned, the murderer tried and found guilty, and six hours after the commission of the crime, Ballou was hung. Strong parties were sent out after two of Ballou's friends, who were present at the murder, but escaped.

—A violent thunder-storm visited the south of England on the 29th of May. The Victoria Tower of the House of Parliament was struck by lightning, but not materially damaged. At Birmingham a manufactory of railroad fog signals was struck, and two girls were killed and four dangerously hurt. Near Epsom, a wagon on the road was struck, and one of the men in it was killed.

—Several of the Ohio delegates to the Democratic National Convention, notwithstanding their instructions for Pendleton, are working openly for Chase." We find the foregoing in the news condensations of the Nashville Banner of the 14th, but don't believe a word of it. If the Tennessee delegates were as clear of that offense as those of Ohio, there would not be so many rocks ahead. If a burnt child dreads the fire, the Ohio Democracy must have an extra allowance of stupidity to be sold a second, if not a third time by the versatile Democratic-hard-money-anti-tariff-red republican-greenbacks, national bank-and-a-dozen-other-things Chief Justice.

ARKANSAS.

—On Monday of last week, at Helena, the famous Pointer vs. Pillow case, involving some $150,000 purchase money for slaves, was taken up before Judge Hanks for final hearing. Two days were occupied in reading the papers and depositions of witnesses. The argument was commenced on the 11th.

—The Searcy steam mill is in active operation, and will grind out flour and meal for all that region, of fine quality.

TENNESSEE.

—The Murfreesboro Monitor of the 13th learns that there is considerable excitement among the citizens around Christiana, in regard to the appearance of some strange looking wild animal in their midst. He is reported to be about the size of a Newfoundland dog, has every appearance of being close kind to the wolf, and in the language of a circus lecturer, "is not an amphibious fowl." We understand that the whole destructive force have turned out to seek his extermination, and we confidently expect ere many days to see his jacket adorning the outward walls of the tanner's hall.

NEW ORLEANS, June 17.—Mayor Conway has filed a reply to the writ quo warranto. It takes exceptions to the right of the writ to issue on the petition of Heath, as he (Conway) holds his office both by a military order and by election by the people. The hearing has been postponed until Saturday.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—The following is Sherman's substitute for the Fifth Section of the Currency bill:

"Providing that for the better distribution of the National Bank Currency, an amount not exceeding $20,000,000 to Banking Associations organized in the States and Territories having less circulation than five dollars per inhabitant, and that within one year the same shall be withdrawn pro rata from the banks in the States and Territories having an amount in excess of the proportion under the act of March the 3d, 1864, and to ascertain which the Comptroller of Currency is to make a statement showing the amount to be retained by each of these banks, and to make a requisition on them, beginning with those having the largest excess, and in the case of a failure to furnish it, it is made the duty of the Comptroller of Currency to sell at auction a sufficient amount of the bonds held to secure circulation of such banks, Provided that the circulation herein authorized shall be issued only as the circulation is withdrawn, so the aggregate circulation shall not at any time exceed $300,000,000."

The Senate's Committee on the District of Columbia, who were instructed to inquire into the alleged forcible ejection of Kate Brown, a negro woman in charge of the ladies' retiring room of the Senate, from a car of the Alexandria Railroad Company, makes a report today confirmatory of the statement before made, but that Kate has instituted suit against the Company for damages, and that the policeman who ejected her from the car has since been dismissed from the service of the Company. They recommend that the resolution for the present remain on the table.

A large number of visitors were in attendance at the Executive Mansion today, including many ladies and prominent individuals.

A committee of the citizens of Washington, including the Mayor ad interim and several members of the conservative wing of the City Council, had an interview with the President this afternoon, in reference to the bill before Congress relating to the municipal officers.

Gens. Rousseau and Hancock, and Senators Henderson and Buckalew, also had interviews with Mr. Johnson.

CONGRESSIONAL.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Cook, from the Committee on Elections, reported that McKee was entitled to the seat from the Ninth District of Kentucky, and said that he should call up a resolution to that effect next week.

Ingersoll offered a resolution directing the Ways and Means Committee to consider and report on the subject of the tax on capital, deposits and circulation of national and other banks of issue, in connection with the bill directed to be prepared.

Randall suggested including also the tax on Government deposits.

Ingersoll so modified the resolution, and it was agreed to.

Julian introduced a bill for the sale of the Hot Springs reservation in Arkansas. Referred.

Stevens, of Pennsylvania, offered a resolution instructing the Ways and Means Committee to inquire into the expediency of reporting a bill to collect the revenue on distilled spirits on the principle of taxing the capacity of stills and apparatus, making an allowance for waste, and to contain a provision like the following:

To call in expert builders and operators and ascertain the utmost quantity the still can produce in the course of twenty-four hours constant running. Let the distiller take out license for such time as he may choose to operate, paying or giving good security to pay all the taxes on all the spirits that can be produced within the period of the license, and if the distiller shall be found to have overrun the period of his license, he shall be subject to imprisonment in the penitentiary.

If any one shall be found to have distilled spirits without a license, he shall be subjected to like imprisonment.

If there be any unoccupied distilleries the keys shall be given to a revenue officer, who shall be heavily punished if he suffers the premises to go into the hands of another person for the purpose of using them.

The keeper of any concealed still shall be heavily punished.

The resolution was referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

Washburn, of Massachusetts, from the Committee on Ways and Means, reported a bill to provide for the distribution of the reward offered by the President for the capture of Jefferson Davis, which was ordered to be printed and recommitted.

The House then proceeded to the consideration, as the special order, the bill reported by Elliott, from the Commerce Committee, to promote American commerce. Elliott addressed the House on the national importance of the bill, the provisions of which have already been published.

Morrill moved to amend the second section by providing that in order that American lumber, cordage iron, copper, chains and anchors might be used in the construction of American vessels, there should be allowed a bounty equal to the drawback of duty on these materials, actively used in their construction.

Allison moved to table the bill. The question was taken and the bill tabled by 82 to 45.

On the motion of Farnsworth, the Senate amendments to the bill to relieve certain persons in North Carolina from their political disabilities, were non-concurred in, and a committee of conference asked for. The House then adjourned.

SENATE.

The Chair submitted a communication from the Texas Constitutional Convention, transmitting resolutions adopted by that body, requesting a change in the law authorizing the District Commander to appoint Registrars of elections, at the earliest moment. Referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Also another communication from the Secretary of War, transmitting a draft of the proposed law relative to Judges Advocate of the Army. Referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

Trumbull, from the Judiciary Committee, recommended an indefinite postponement of several bills in relation to the establishment of a uniform system of bankruptcy. Agreed to.

The Chinese Embassy were then announced. Sumner presented the guests to the President in a brief speech of welcome, and hand-shaking and conversation through the interpreters followed. After which the President pro tem. called the Senate to order, and the Embassy retired without ceremony.

The Chair laid before the Senate a telegram from the Texas Convention, forwarding resolutions just adopted, on which they ask the action of Congress. The resolutions, after reciting the alleged lawlessness existing in certain parts of the State, urge upon Congress the necessity of authorizing the organization by the Convention of a military force in the several counties of the State, to act in connection with a military commander, for whom they express their confidence, for the purpose of protecting the lives and property of the citizens from preyed upon by assassins and robbers, and assert that otherwise they will be forced to organize for their own defense. The matter was referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

The bill relating to the National Currency was then taken up. The first section, forbidding any National Bank from paying the interest on the balances of any other, was struck out by 26 to 11. The bill passed with Sherman's substitutes for Davis' amendments, which are substantially the same, by 25 to 14, and then, after a short executive session, the Senate adjourned.

—The Bowling Green, Ky., Democrat asserts the "opinion" that Grant's letter of acceptance, if extended, would be a dreadful bore. It is doubtless satisfied with the gimblet which he has endeavored to perforate his adherents.

—A terrible bombshell was thrown into the Radical camp last week by the communication of the Secretary of War to Congress conveying the statement of the Paymaster General, that without an appropriation of twenty-five millions of dollars he cannot continue to pay soldiers' bounties. In their anxiety to seem economical the Radical revolutionists had totally forgotten to provide for the payment of what is due to the soldiers, and remembered (as in the municipal election at Washington) only to take away from them the right to vote, which was so lavishly conferred upon the Freedman's Bureau contrabands.

The Bathing accommodations are in fine order. Hot and warm sulphur baths, so eminently efficacious in many cases, are at the command of visitors at all hours."

In addition to other amusements, they have provided a new and elegant BOWLING ALLEY and BILLIARD ROOM, conveniently located. Prof. Rosenberger's celebrated FULL BRASS BAND has been engaged for the season. A GOOD LIVERY STABLE will be kept on the premises.

The connection of the Virginia Central Railroad to Covington leaves only twenty miles of staging, through a beautiful mountain country, over a well graded turnpike.

EIGHTEENTH DAY—Thursday.—Sun rises, 4:39; sets, 7:30.

Saints.—Sts. Marcus and Marcellinus, martyrs, 286; St. Amand, Bishop of Bordeaux, St. Marina, of Bythinia, virgin 8th century, St. Elizabeth, of Seonauge, virgin and abbess, 1165.

Born.—Robert Stewart, Marquis of Londonderry, Minister of George IV, 1769, London; Karl Wenceslaus Rodecker Von Rotteck, historian, 1775, Freiburg in the Breisgan.

Died.—Caliph Othman, assassinated at Medina, 655; Bishop Thomas Bilson, 1616; William Cobbett, politician, 1835.

WE would advise our readers to examine the Improved Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine before purchasing elsewhere. Experience teaches us they have no equal. Room, 256 Second street.

DR. NORRIS, Oculist, 59 Madison street, straightens crossed eyes without a particle of danger, and with comparatively no pain. He performs the operation in a few minutes.

IRISH LITERARY ASSOCIATION.—The usual weekly meeting of the above society will be held this evening in their hall, corner of Main and Adams street. An interesting question will be debated.

ST. JOHN'S DAY PICNIC.—To relieve the distressed, succour the needy, help the widow and the fatherless, is one of the first of human duties—but more especially is it the chief of Masonic obligations. Remember then the picnic which will take place on St. John's Day (24th inst.) for the benefit of the Masonic Orphans' and Widows' Fund.

THE STRIKE on the Mobile and Ohio Railroad has been, we learn, satisfactorily adjusted, and the trains have resumed running, making all connections North and East. The Memphis and Louisville Railroad are now enabled to make close connections to all points from which they have been shut off for the past few days by the strike.

A. O. of DRUIDS.—Officers elected in the Grand Grove of the State of Tennessee on Friday, June 12: C. J. Hargan, N. G. A.; J. S Heiliger, D. G. A.; Abr. [illegible], G. Sec'y; J. Brust, G. Tress.; J. [illegible] G. M; M. Bren, G. G. Rep. L. Lyo. [illegible] to G. G. of U. S. Convention as representative. [illegible] held at Albany, N. Y., of U. A. O. D., [illegible] Abr. J. Peres, two years; J. Brust, one [illegible] Deputy G. Lodge has been appointed and shall be for Lafayette Grove No. 4, respected accordingly.

THE DRIVEN WELL.—The driven well which is being sunk in the park is progressing rapidly. Between thirty-five and forty feet of it were driven yesterday, and every indication of water was shown. We wish the enterprise "God speed," for if there is any one thing needed by the Memphis public more than another, it is some natural means of obtaining a plentiful supply of pure fresh water.

ST. PETER'S ORPHAN ASYLUM.—This institution, which is one of the best managed of all the public or church charities in our midst, will give its annual picnic on the fourth of next month. The tickets will be sold, and the proceeds will go toward replenishing the fiscal condition of their treasury, which has been very much depleted by the constant drains made upon it during the past year. The support of the orphan is a Christian duty, incumbent on all, and should not be forgotten or lost sight of.

WANTED.—Good reliable agents and solicitors—male and female—for the Phœnix Mutual Life Insurance Company, for this city and the State of Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi and Arkansas. Good territory given and the highest commission paid. Nourse & Mathews, General Agents, No. 16 Jefferson street. jel7 1w

DENTISTRY.—Dr. J. B. Wasson, dentist, still continues the practice of his profession at his new office, over the wholesale Drug Emporium, No. 318 Main street, instead of having retired from the profession, as has been so often reported throughout the city and country.

JUST RECEIVED.—Net shad and roe herring in kits. Also roe herring in barrels and half barrels. Bend & Jones, 35 Madison street. jel7 2t

POLICE ITEMS.

—There was not a single arrest made up to seven o'clock yesterday, at the Causey street station—a fact unprecedented in the annals of the Second District.

—Henry Ray, the colored cuss who stole Gen. Pike's pipe, was yesterday arrested and brought before 'Squire Kiernan. The 'Squire, duly appreciating the heinousness of his offense—stealing from an editor—sent him up in default of $1000, to appear at the next term of the Criminal Court.

—'Squire Kiernan yesterday heard the case of Dennis Watkins, charged with perjury. Watkins being unable to furnish bonds in the sum of $2000, was sent to board in the jail until the next term of the Criminal Court.

—A warrant was yesterday issued for William Diggs, charged with stealing wood.

—J. P. Higgins was charged with assault and battery on William Diggs, who was digging into Higgins' wood pile. The case will be tried before 'Squire Kiernan.

—The tables were turned yesterday—there being seven arrests in the First District up to seven o'clock, and none at Causey. The boot is generally on the other leg—the southern portion of the city being, as a general thing, the most unruly, and always affording more food for item hunting locals.

SHOOTING OF G. D. BETHEL.

A Card From the Gentlemen Composing the Coroner's Jury,

In order to correct the statements published in this morning's [illegible], in relation to the lamentable affair at [illegible] on the Ten Mile Bayou yesterday, which resulted in the death of G. D. Bethel, the undersigned, who were appointed to hold an inquest on the body, would state in a condensed form the evidence as given before them:

"About three o'clock in the evening Bethel was sitting on his horse, when Collier handed Bethel a note or paper which Bethel read, and then turned it over and wrote someting on the back of it, on the pomel of his saddle, and then handed it to Collier, and then dismounted, saying he did not intend to settle with him; upon which Collier told him he represented Mr. Sullivan in the matter; and Bethel said he would only settle it at law. Collier also dismounted and some words passed, in which Collier said that any one that would not settle it, was a scoundrel. Collier set his gun down at the foot of a tree and advanced towards Bethel about five paces. Bethel also advanced to meet him, holding his hands in his pockets. Collier then stepped back to his gun, and told Bethel not to advance any further, or draw his pistol, or he would shoot him; raised his gun to his hip and cocked it, upon which Bethel told Collier he was too d——d a coward to shoot anything. Collier said something and fired. Bethel fell on his right side, and Collier fired again. Bethel said, after he was shot first, that he 'did not draw his pistol.' Collier went off, saying that was his way of settling his matters when others would not settle.

Mr. Clarence Collier did not come in on the cars with the body, as stated by the Avalanche."

AUDI ET ALTEREM PARTEM.

According to our established principles of giving equal and exact justice to all men, be they of whatever shade or complexion of skin or politics, we insert the following card of Gen. W. J. Smith. It is open to the most grave and severe criticism, both in point of fact, and in other respects, but we leave him to be handled by the gentlemen at Water Valley, between whom and him there is a direct issue in point of veracity. We recommend the card to the especial attention of Dr. Dixon, who furnished our reporter with the information on which the item alluded to was based:

MEMPHIS, June 15, 1868.

Editors Memphis Appeal:

Having noticed in your paper that you would publish both sides of a story, and having waited long enough for yours to have the effect intended by you, I will now give you the other side.

The only request I make is that you give this as prominent a heading and place in your paper as you did the other statement gotten up by your reporter.

Very respectfully, W. J. SMITH.

MEMPHIS, May 26, 1868.

Thomas Boyle, Esq., Bolivar, Tenn.:

My Dear Sir: Enclosed please find a slip from the Memphis Post of May 6th, containing a paragraph taken from the APPEAL of the 5th, together with my explanation of the affair. I wish you to explain, if you will, which contains the truth, and whether there is any truth in the extract from the APPEAL in regard to the assault on me by Dr. Dixon, of Water Valley. I should not have troubled you with this, but I see during my absence the APPEAL and Avalanche have published a statement of the affair from the Water Valley Eagle, of Mississippi, making my card appear to be false. The epithets I care nothing for. My character for truth I wish to retain, and place the lie where it belongs. The charge that Dr. Dixon ever was my prisoner (of war) or maltreated by me, is false in every particular; and I defy Dr. Dixon to tell when or where he was ever taken prisoner by me, as the records will show whether such were facts or otherwise. That is only told to excuse his attack on me. Hoping to hear from you at your earliest convenience,

I remain your ob't serv't,
W. J. SMITH.

A duplicate copy of this letter was sent to each of the gentlemen whose names appear below:

BOLIVAR, TENN., June 6, 1868.

Gen. W. J. Smith, Memphis:

Dear Sir: In answer to your letter of the 26th instant, asking a statement at our hands as to the truth of the article published in the Memphis DAILY APPEAL of the 5th instant, in which it is charged that your "nose was pulled" and "face slapped" at Water Valley, Miss., by Dr. Dixon, we deem it just to you to say that we were present on the occasion referred to, and saw nothing of the kind. We are satisfied that such a thing did not take place, and regret that the correspondent of the APPEAL was misinformed.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Capt. John D. Adams, Superintendent of the Memphis and Arkansas River Packet Company, arrived yesterday from below. Capt. Adams will soon bring all his low water boats into requisition. A new packet, well adapted for the trade, is being secured to take the place of the Centralia.

Col. C. T. Geoghegan, of the house of Moon & Geoghegan, arrived yesterday from Louisville and other points North, where he has been making such arrangements in connection with his house here and the branch at Greenville, as will enable him to fill orders during the coming season for everything needed by the planter in the shortest time and upon the best terms offered in the market since the war.

The tournament was visited during the day by our boatmen, and all of them were delighted with the affair. The rings were carried away with as much accuracy as some boats pick up snags. One or two Arkansas pilots got so much interested that when Geo. Gibbs started out on his trip for glory and rings, seeing that he was wide of the mark, or more properly that his lance was not in the right channel, they shouted lustily to him to "hold her over," "pull her down." Their hands and feet instinctively went through the motions, and they apparently worked as hard as though they were steering a stern-wheeler in a gale. George, however, lost the channel and came home after three rounds, having accidentally carried away a single ring out of the nine. Another aquatic knight, dressed as a gunboater, did not carry away even one ring with which to gladden the eyes of some future little Johnny. In fact, the representatives of our great inland sea were not as successful as they would have been in their own element, and now, nothing but a swimming tournament should satisfy them, in order to win back the honors they have lost.

Capt. J. B. Archer left for Louisville last evening.

The Magenta is laid up at St. Louis.

The Liberty No. 2 is the regular U. S. mail packet for White river on Saturday next.

The U. S. mail packet Gleaner, Capt. Blasdel, will leave to-day for all landings on the Arkansas. She is light draught and will go through to Little Rock without trouble. Huls and Wood are her clerks.

The fine steamer Marble City, Capt. Conway, with Mr. Corbyn in the office, leaves for Cairo and St. Louis to-day at 6 p.m.

The R. E. Lee will pass up to-day for Cairo and Louisville. She has splendid passenger accommodations. Mr. Roberts is clerk.

The Pargoud received about forty passengers at this point yesterday morning.

The Sam Vail left last night on another venture to the Forked Deer.

The Darling, Capt. Kates, will leave on Friday for Cairo and Cincinnati. Capt. Power has charge of the office. Passengers should make a note of the departure.

The Louisville and Cincinnati Mail Line are now running two boats per day between those points.

The Cumberland came off the docks at Cairo a day or two ago with a new bow and stern.

There never was as much travel on the Upper Mississippi as this season. Fares, however, are very low. Passengers are carried from Dubuque to St. Paul, a distance of 400 miles, for $3 50 and $4. Freights are very scarce.

The Indians along the Upper Missouri are hostile, driving all wood-yard men from their camps, and are reported to have fired into several boats going up, but the Miner, on her way down, passed entirely unmolested.

The St. Louis and Mountain trade has been this year considerable, although not so large by perhaps thirty per cent. as it would have been, had not Chicago become interested in it, and put on a line of boats from Sioux City to Benton, in connection with their railroad which taps the Missouri. Several St. Louis boats make a second trip this year.

The Gallatea reached a point twenty miles above Cairo, and was compelled to return, being unable to ascend the Mississippi, her wheels not having enough hold in the water, making over thirty revolutions per minute. Her buckets will be widened ten inches, and her chimneys lengthened to increase her draught, as she can only at present make twenty-five pounds of steam.

Berlin, the Radical Wharfmaster at St. Louis, who has been convicted of a serious crime, has been asked by the Mayor to resign; but Berlin don't like to part with the loaves and fishes.

Our Latest Improved NEW SCALE PIANO-FORTE.

GROVESTEEN & CO.,

499 Broadway, N. Y.,

THESE instruments, after the most flattering testimonials from the first Pianists in the country, who, at our solicitation, have tested them in the severest manner possible, have been pronounced THE FINEST SQUARE PIANO-FORTE MADE IN THE WORLD.

It has always been our policy, during the thirty-six years that we have manufactured Pianos, twelve thousand of which are now in use in the United States and Europe, to give the finest instrument at the lowest cost. Our superior facilities enable us to offer them from one to three hundred dollars less than any other First Class House.

The tone of these instruments are remarkable for their peculiar Sweetness and Great Brilliancy, never losing their quality when forced to their utmost capacity. The lower register retaining its full power and fullness, does not destroy the middle and upper registers by mingling with them in disagreeable confusion, the refined beauty of tone being equally delightful to the unpracticed and to the most cultivated ear.

They are an entirely new style of Piano, finished in the most superb manner, with four full round corners front and back, heavily carved legs and Lyre serpentine Base richly moulded, and each instrument is fully warranted for five years. sep5 dawly

NEW SCALE PIANO-FORTE.

GROVESTEEN & CO.,

499 Broadway, N. Y.,

THESE Instruments, after the most flattering testimonials from the first Pianists in the country, who, at our solicitation, have tested them in the severest manner possible, have been pronounced THE FINEST SQUARE PIANO-FORTE MADE IN THE WORLD.

It has always been our policy, during the thirty-six years that we have manufactured Pianos, twelve thousand of which are now in use in this country, to make and sell only the finest instrument at the lowest cost. Our superior facilities enable us to offer them from one to three hundred dollars less than any other First Class House.

The tone of these instruments are remarkable for their peculiar Sweetness and Brilliancy, never losing their quality when forced to their utmost capacity. The lower register retaining its positiveness, does not destroy the middle and upper registers by mingling with them in disagreeable confusion, the refined beauty of tone being equally delightful to the unpracticed and to the most cultivated ear.

They are an entirely new style of Piano, finished in the most superb manner, with four full round corners front and back, heavily carved legs and Lyre Serpentine Base richly moulded, and each instrument is fully warranted for five years. sep5 dawly

MEMPHIS APPEAL.

BY TELEGRAPH.

Noon Dispatches.

NEW YORK, June 17.—The wife of E. A. Pollard, of Virginia, had Mrs. Cootly and Miss Cootly arrested yesterday for assault and battery. In her complaint she charges Pollard with having used her means in supporting himself and then deserting her. In reply, he says she is a maniac through jealousy.

There were three hundred and ninety-two deaths in New York last week, and one hundred and fifty in Brooklyn.

Judge Ingraham yesterday refused to issue an injunction for the purpose of restraining the Metropolitan Police from warning strangers away from certain disreputable concert saloons.

A jury yesterday awarded a verdict in favor of the Good Enough Horse Shoe Company for $4268 against the Star Fire Insurance Company, for damage to machinery by fire.

PHILADELPHIA, June 17.—The Coroner's jury in the case of Timothy Heenan, who was murdered last week, today returned a verdict that the deceased came to his death at the hands of Gerald Eaton. No clue has yet been obtained to the murder of Newton Stuart. The Coroner's jury to-day returned an open verdict.

PROVIDENCE, June 17.—Dixon & Bros.' cotton mill was much damaged by fire last night.

SPRINGFIELD, June 17.—Thomas R. Whittemore, Town Treasurer for Spencer, Mass., who defaulted to the amount of $18,000, has been arrested in Mississippi. He restored the money and was let off.

Henry E. Coplaigh, an alleged incendiary, and another prisoner, escaped from jail here yesterday.

BALTIMORE, June 17.—A large number of prominent agents of the Underwriters' organization, from the Eastern and Western cities, are in attendance at the session here of the Executive Convention of the National Board of Underwriters. The reports of the several committees show the importance of this national organization, and there appears to be a tenacious determination to make it permanent.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., June 17.—The reports from here, and other towns on the frontier of the State, about the storage of Fenian arms and the gathering of Fenian warriors in those neighborhoods, are pure fabrications. They are ascertained to be so by officers of the Government, who were sent there to investigate them.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

OFFICE OF THE DAILY APPEAL, MEMPHIS, June 17, 1868.

There was rather less doing to-day in bonds and stocks than for some days back. The demand has not fallen off for such securities as are desirable, but the greater portion of such as were held by outsiders or those not thoroughly posted, has been bought up, and there is now but little, if any, offering. Memphis and Charleston Railroad stock and Mississippi Central 2d mortgage bonds are in demand in preference to any others. We quote the former nominally at 52c, buying, and the latter at 38 to 40c.

City bonds are some weaker, as holders have shown more of a disposition to put them upon the market than was anticipated. We, however, are unable to quote them lower; 53 to 53½c are the buying rates.

Gold opened to-day in New York at 141½, and closed at 140½. We quote at 139 to 140c, buying; selling at 140½ to 141c.

City Scrip is steady with light offerings. There is but little of it on the market, though ledger balances, which are equally desirable to tax-payers, is plentiful enough. All small scrip has been absorbed. We quote at 75 to 77c, buying; selling at 78 to 80c; while very small orders are held at a fraction higher.

County Warrants are dull. We quote at 60c, buying; selling at 63 to 65c.

Police Warrants are somewhat irregular. Some dealers offer but 75 to 78c, while one or two others are buying at 80 to 85c; selling at 85 to 90c.

The tax of one cent a box on matches last year netted to the Government a revenue of $1,500,000.

Mr. F. S. Davis, President of the First National Bank of this city, departed yesterday by rail on a visit to Cincinnati, New York, and other places East. Mr. Davis has devoted his undivided attention to the affairs of the prosperous institution of which he is the head for some months, and a short period of relaxation will be no doubt agreeable to him. Mr. C. F. Norris, the no less efficient Vice-President of the First National, will direct its affairs during the absence of Mr. Davis.

The Liverpool Cotton market was firmer and more active at the opening to-day; Uplands 10¾d, Orleans 11d. At noon prices were advancing; Uplands afloat 10⅞ to 10¾d; in port 10⅝ to 11d; Orleans 10½ to 10¾d. Quotations were nominally unchanged at the close. Sales 1500 bales. Holders were asking an advance in New York at the opening, and buyers cautious; Low Middlings 28c, Middlings 29c, Orleans 29½c, Good Middlings 30½c. At noon the demand was good and prices advancing; Uplands were held at 29½c, and at the close the demand was fair and prices firm. The advance checked business. Sales 1500 bales. The improvement noted above caused considerable inquiry in this market, but holders, from being weak and uncertain in their views, became firm, advancing their figures too rapidly to suit buyers, who let the day pass over without having made more than a few straggling purchases. Holders were asking on a basis of 28 to 29c for Middlings, but the inside figure was the highest point at which, so far as we learned, sales were made. We quote the market firm and prices somewhat irregular.

The Stock market is inactive. Choice Beeves, 7½ to 9c; inferior, 4 to 5c. Sheep $3 75 to 5 00 per head. Hogs, 5 to 7c gross.

Wheat is in demand with several buyers upon the market. Parties are contracting for future delivery. A sale of 2000 bushels, good merchantable, was effected readily to-day at $2; to be delivered next week. A lot which came in this morning sold at $2. This seems to be the price settled upon, but as flour is declining and the Northern crops will be coming in very soon, we may look for a decline of 5 to 10c per bushel at no distant date.

POPULAR WORKS ON FREEMASONRY

PUBLISHED BY THE

MASONIC PUBLISHING

—AND—

MANUFACTURING COMPANY

432 Broome Street, New York.

LITURGY OF THE ANCIENT AND ACcepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry, for the Southern Jurisdiction of the United States, by Albert Pike, 33d, Sov. Grand Commander. 8vo. Splendidly illustrated with Chromo-lithographic plates and numerous wood engravings. Part II, 4th to 14th degree. $5 00.

☞ It would perhaps seem unnecessary after giving the above title-page to say anything further in the way of recommendation. The name of the author should of itself be a sufficient guarantee of its worth. Ill. Bro. Pike, by his learning and contributions has done much to elevate the standard of Masonic literature and extend a knowledge of its symbolism, ethics and history as any other Mason man. This book, in its particular department may justly be considered a master-piece, embracing matter not only useful to the Masonic student of every grade, but to men of science in the highest literary field of the present age. Notwithstanding this book has been preceded by several of a similar character, yet to Bro. Pike alone is due the honor of first exploring this branch of Masonic literature and of opening to the admiration of the Craft its vast storehouse of knowledge and beauty. This work contains the degrees of the Ancient and Accepted Rite from the fourth to the fourteenth inclusive, is elegantly illustrated with chromo lithograph engravings, showing all the jewels costume, furniture, etc., belonging to each degree. No expense has been spared in getting it up, and it is without doubt the most elegant, as well as one of the most useful books, ever offered to the Fraternity.

Published and for sale by the Masonic Publishing and Manufacturing Company, 432 Broome street, New York, and Booksellers generally in the United States.
